CANDIDATES FLAY AND DEFEND ROOSEVELT SUPPORT

ROOSEVELT SAID TO WANT CHANCE IN WAGNER ACT

William Green Says He And President Agree On Number Of Points

'MORE JUDICIAL-MINDED' MEN URGED FOR BOARD

A. F. L. Head Mentions Term Of Donald W. Smith Will Expire Soon

By William B. Ardery

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt is ready to seek changes in the Wagner labor act, William Green reported today.

The president of the American Federation of Labor, after a long talk with Mr. Roosevelt here, told reporters:

"We discussed possible changes in the (labor relations) law thoroughly. We are in accord on the necessity of making some changes in the law to overcome the objections the A. F. of L. has offered regarding the (national labor relations) board's administration."

Green said its members should be "more judicial-minded" and asserted he had given the president numerous specific complaints against its activities.

The labor official said he had talked with Mr. Roosevelt about the personnel of the board, and had mentioned that the term of Donald W. Smith will expire soon. Green would not say, however, whether he had expressed specific opposition to Smith.

"I rather complain," Green said, "against the administration of the labor act by the board as a whole. I did not express objections to one specific person."

Green did not specify discussed changes in the labor act, but he said that possibilities included reducing the board's authority or a clarification of the law to define exactly the board's duties.

In Milwaukee this week, Joseph A. Padway, A. F. of L. counsel, announced he had drafted a set of proposed amendments to the Wagner act at Green's suggestion.

These proposals would reduce the authority of the board and deprive it of judicial powers.

Another of Mr. Roosevelt's callers was Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York, who discussed with the chief

REBELS ATTACK IN GANDESA AREA

Effort Made To Find Weak Spot In Government's South Catalonia Line

HENDAYE, France (At the Spanish Frontier), Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Spanish insurgent command today focused its Ebro river counter-offensive on Villalba de los Arcos, hoping that it was the weak spot in the government's south Catalonia line.

Fifty tanks and 100 planes, supported by furiously attacking infantry, pounded at the town, now little more than a mass of debris seamed with trenches, about five miles north of Gandesa.

The attack was shifted to the north of Gandesa after insurgent failure to break through the government line in the Pandos mountains on Gandesa's south.

A government air fleet was reported to have surprised an insurgent squadron today over the Ebro valley. Dispatches from Barcelona said seven new insurgent craft were shot down and that all government planes returned to their base.

Government advices this morning said "not a single foot" of ground had been yielded to the north of Gandesa, where the government had seized positions in a fierce counter-conquest of July 25.

Insurgent dispatches said hundreds

WOMAN AERIALIST KILLED IN FALL

CASPER, Wyo., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A woman aerial acrobat swung dizzily through the air today. The stadium crowd, thinking it was part of the show, froze into silence. A moment later the performer struck the ground and died instantly.

The victim was Lucia Dunkel, 23. She plunged 100 feet from the top of a steel tower.

Three other members of the troupe, all from Riga, Latvia, were unable to explain the accident.

1,000 JOBS AT L. S. U. TAKEN

Manager Says Five Times As Many Applied As Could Be Given Work

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Louisiana State university announced today 1,000 jobs available for students had been taken.

E. N. Jackson, business manager and chairman of the student employment committee, said that after alloting 1,000 part-time jobs, funds available for helping students work through school had been fully pledged. For the fall term beginning September 5, Jackson said, he received five times as many applications as he was able to fill.

Those chosen for jobs will receive $15 a month, or 30 cents an hour for 50 hours of work a month.

The National Youth administration is contributing enough federal money to employ 570 students at that salary rate on the campuses here, at New Orleans and at Monroe. L. S. U. is furnishing a smaller amount from its "working scholarship fund" to employ 430 more students on the three campuses.

Those jobs mean "pin money" to a few students but to the majority they mean the income necessary to gain an education.

The late Huey Long promised he would see to it that any Louisiana boy or girl who wanted to attend the university could do so without worrying about expense, but died before he could effect his plan.

L. S. U.'s enrollment has grown so fast the problem of finding students part-time jobs has become a tremendous task. There was an enrollment of 3,168 on the three campuses last year. Some 9,000 are expected to enroll next month.

Jobs supplied students vary from clipping newspapers and indexing re-

LETTER POSTED IN ATLANTIC DELIVERED

EAST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The mail came through today with a letter posted in the Atlantic ocean.

A friend of Mrs. R. John Carlson, who sailed from New York last Saturday for Honduras, remembered on Sunday that she had failed to tell Mrs. Carlson of the forthcoming visit of a mutual friend from South America.

The ship had no facilities for private radio messages, so the friend wrote a letter explaining the situation, put it in a bottle and dropped it overboard. Washed up at Miami Beach the next day, the water-soaked letter was taken to the postoffice, dried out and forwarded to Mrs. Carlson.

TRIAL OF HINES FIGHT BETWEEN CRIME AND LAW

Battling Machine Developed By District Attorney Clearly Demonstrated

REACHES ACROSS COUNTRY TO SAN QUENTIN PRISON

Max Silverman Will Be Taken Back To New York To Appear As Witness

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Big business methods of criminals and big business methods of fighting them were in a struggle for supremacy tonight in the conspiracy trial of James J. (Jimmy) Hines of Tammany Hall.

The embattled forces were outlined clearly in the first week of testimony accusing Hines of being a political "fixer" of police and magistrates courts.

On one hand was the intricate and powerful "numbers" combine organized by the late Dutch Schultz, the gangster.

On the other was the business-like crime-fighting machine developed by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of Manhattan.

Hines' future depended on how well Dewey had untangled the Schultz methods—on how right or wrong he was in naming the Democratic district leader as a paid protector of the "numbers" business and how thoroughly he could support that charge.

The efficiency of the Dewey organization was evidenced even as the trial recessed for the week-end. It reached across the country to Los Angeles to find a possible witness in San Quentin prison, Max Silverman, a one-time bondsman who, the police say, knows all about Schultz's methods of obtaining political "protection" for his underworld operations.

No comment came from the Dewey office on reports Silverman would be brought here to testify; but it was freely rumored the prosecution hoped he could bolster evidence already in the record purporting to show that

BUSES TO BE IN SERVICE MONDAY

Lee Avenue And South Grand Street To Have Separate Lines

The five new Reo buses that were constructed at Lansing, Mich., especially for the purposes of the Monroe municipal street railway to replace trolleys on the Jackson street-Lee avenue line, will be placed in service Monday, according to announcement by W. D. H. Rodriguez, commissioner of finance and public utilities.

He announced that there will be a bus each way on the present line of the trolley out Jackson and Lee avenue every 10 minutes, while South Grand street will have a bus running down as far as Vernon street every 20 minutes. Passengers on these bus lines must obtain transfers when they enter the bus. No transfers will be issued from the Jackson street-Lee avenue line to the South Grand street line and no transfers can be had from the South Grand street line to the Jackson-Lee avenue line.

On account of the new buses being equipped with air brakes, they are able to make sudden stops in cases of emergency and automobilists who are following in their path are warned to remain at a safe distance.

"These buses are the finest and most efficient that have ever been manufactured for any city," stated Commissioner Rodriguez, "and it is my desire that the public cooperate

APOLOGETIC BANDIT ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A nervous, apologetic bandit who held up Adolph Adler, taxicab driver, early today and robbed him of $4.75, shot himself to death a few minutes later as police closed in on him in a West 44th street hallway.

Adler told police the man had said: "I don't like to do this but I'm up against it. I've got a wife and two kids."

There was nothing in the dead man's pockets to identify him.

COMMUNISTS IN 'INNOCENT CLUBS,' MATTHEWS SAYS

SAYS MRS. ROOSEVELT'S NAME WIDELY EXPLOITED

Charges World Youth Congress' Ultimate Aim To Inspire Revolution

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The house committee on "un-American" activities assigned a bodyguard to accompany Dr. J. B. Matthews, writer and educator, when he left the committee room today after telling how communists "exploited" the names of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and other prominent Americans.

The plainclothes guard was assigned after Matthews had reported receiving threats by telephone of bodily harm if he persisted in his testimony regarding the purported inner workings of the Communist party.

He is scheduled to return to the witness stand Monday with testimony which committee members said would be even more startling than that he unfolded today.

Dr. Matthews told the committee he was associated prominently from 1932 to 1935 with the Communist party's "innocent clubs" in this country, but severed his connections when he realized the party's real purpose and grew to doubt Soviet claims of social and other advances in Russia.

He charged that the World Youth

WOUNDED WOMAN RECEIVES BLOOD

Hope Expressed For Recovery Of Wife Of Karl Krueger, Symphony Conductor

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Blood transfusions today strengthened the wife of Karl Krueger, internationally known symphony conductor, and physicians expressed hope she would recover from two bullet wounds inflicted in a strange "jealousy" shooting on Hollywood boulevard.

Mrs. Emita Krueger, former Chicago society girl, was shot down and critically wounded late yesterday as she ran from her maid's estranged husband.

While Krueger paced a hospital corridor, clenching and unclenching the slender hands that have led some of the world's most noted orchestras, his wife slept, occasionally becoming conscious. Once, through lips compressed with pain, she whispered an accusation against Charles E. McDonald, 30-year-old electrician, who surrendered to police and, Detective-Lieutenant George Whaley said, confessed the shooting.

McDonald, who slept soundly in a jail cell throughout the night, was questioned again today. An officer asked:

"Are you sorry about this?"

He replied:

"I haven't made up my mind . . . you ought to know about that."

In his confession, Whaley said McDonald declared:

"I had to shoot that woman . . . I had to. She employed my wife as a companion and nursemaid and then dominated her so completely that she broke up our home."

His wife, pretty, 28-year-old Frances McDonald, sobbed:

"My husband is insanely jealous.

LOST WOMAN TURNS IN FIRE ALARM AND GETS 5 DAYS IN JAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Six policemen in three radio cars, three engine companies, two hook and ladder companies, two battalion chiefs, a fire patrol and a gas company emergency crew sprang into action with screaming sirens today, all because a lady got lost in the lower East side.

Mrs. Aline Butler, 21, turned in a fire alarm after several pedestrians pointed in different directions when she asked them how to get from Avenue C to Lafayette street.

A judge directed her to five days in jail.

Politics Increasingly Warm In Fifth District Saturday

Feud Between Lieutenant-Governor And Congressman Mills Features Speaking

Politics waxed warm again Saturday as candidates for congress from the Fifth district stumped parts of the district in their campaign for votes, with the feud between Lieutenant-Governor Earl Long and Congressman Newt V. Mills again featuring the day's speaking engagements.

Replying to charges allegedly made by Lieutenant-Governor Long that he had "sold out" to the Standard Oil company, Congressman Mills, in an address at Farmerville, countered by accusing Long of "robbing" the school fund of the state of $300,000 to buy Chalmette park in New Orleans, and added that he had "reason to believe that Long got $100,000 for himself out of the deal."

Mills charged Lieutenant-Governor Long with using forged checks in his campaign against Mills and declared that "if you people stick with me I am going to prove to you that those checks are not real but I cannot do it now because Earl Long has the key

GERMANY ORDERS BRITISHER OUT

Claims Proof Captain Thomas Kendrick Conducting Espionage Activities

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Captain Thomas Kendrick, an official of the British passport office in Vienna, was arrested because proof had been established that he was conducting espionage activities, it was announced officially today.

The announcement said the British ambassador, Sir Nevile Henderson, had been requested to see that Captain Kendrick leaves Germany at the earliest possible moment.

(In London, the British government understood Captain Kendrick, who was arrested by German secret police Wednesday near the Swiss frontier, already had been released. Officials there said he was expected to leave Vienna tomorrow or Monday.)

The laconic communique, which closed the Kendrick incident so far as Germany is concerned, was issued

ANOTHER RECORD MADE BY HUGHES

Round-The-World Flier Crosses Continent In 10 Hours, 34 Minutes

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Howard Hughes, round-the-world and transcontinental record holder, hung up another record today but it was only incidental to a research flight.

Winging non-stop from Los Angeles to New York to test a new type of oxygen mask for high altitude flight, Hughes, in his round-the-world transport type plane, crossed the continent in 10 hours 34 minutes, beating the best previous transport record by almost 30 minutes. He flew at an average altitude of 20,000 feet.

In January, 1937, however, he crossed the continent in 7 hours 28 minutes and 25 seconds in a special racing plane.

D. W. Tomlinson, another research flier, held the previous transcontinental record for transport type planes.

Landing at Floyd Bennett airport at 7:36 a.m., eastern standard time, Hughes and three companions said the new type oxygen mask held great possibilities for future flight at extremely high altitudes.

"Ultimately," Hughes said, "transport operations will be conducted at altitudes of around 20,000 feet. Our present equipment and engines will not permit regular flight at that height. The point I want to make is this: That as an airplane leaves sea level the man at the controls becomes less efficient.

"A good oxygen mask, permitting

LITTLE PRINCESS' BIRTHDAY TODAY

BALMORAL, Scotland, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Tomorrow will be a big day for a little girl who lives in the reflected glory of an older sister.

The little girl is Princess Margaret Rose, whose sister, Princess Elizabeth, some day may be the queen of England, and the big day is her eighth birthday.

But even on her birthday she will not hold the spotlight alone. She will have to share honors with her cousin, Lord Gerald Lascelles, who will be 14 years old.

Margaret Rose's mother, Queen Elizabeth, will postpone the birthday party until Monday but the little princess will be allowed to see the gifts from her father, King George VI, and Uncle David, the duke of Windsor.

The king was expected to continue his custom of adding a pearl or two to the graduated necklace that will be complete when his daughter reaches her 21st birthday.

A cake baked by the royal household staff at Buckingham palace was expected for the festivities at Balmoral castle.

Her cousin will spend his birthday at Harewood house in Yorkshire. His parents are the king's sister, Mary, the princess royal, and the earl of Harewood.

NAZIS FORTIFY CZECH BORDER

Section, Formerly Favored By Vacationists, Practically Closed To Traffic

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Germany not only is fortifying her Rhineland frontier, it became known today, but also is carrying on extensive defense construction along the Czechoslovak border in the Erz mountains.

This part of Germany, formerly visited by large numbers of German vacationists, now is practically closed to tourist traffic.

Even Germany's "strength through joy" vacation trips, formerly scheduled for this part of the country, has been shifted to other sections as have the trips scheduled for the Rhineland.

Mobilization for the autumn maneuvers and the large-scale fortification construction along the frontiers have created a severe shortage of skilled labor.

Electricians, carpenters, bricklayers, roadbuilders and all men able to handle a pick and shovel have been drafted by the tens of thousands.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler, accompanied by his former superior officer, Captain Fritz Wiedeman, who now is his adjutant, spent his second day at Stettin, close to the Baltic coast, inspecting Germany's second army corps.

Berliners were surprised today to find the city's advertising pillars plastered with large yellow placards demanding that all former officers or reserve officers below the rank of major general and under 65, who have not yet registered, report to their local police stations. Failure to report within the specified time carries heavy fines.

COUNT COURT SWIMS WITH HEIRESS WIFE

VENICE, Italy, Aug. 20.—(AP)—It looked to Venice society tonight as though Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow was trying to woo back the former Barbara Hutton, his American heiress wife.

Less than a month ago they agreed to a deed of separation "amicably" ending a bitter family wrangle and on August 10 the way was cleared for their ultimate divorce in Danish courts.

Six weeks ago Countess Barbara's attorneys charged in a British magistrate's court that the Danish nobleman, her second titled European husband, was threatening her.

They said he threatened to put the countess "on the spot," to "shoot like a dog" an unidentified London society man and to commit suicide. They said he threatened her with "three years of hell with headlines."

Today the couple went swimming together.

There was no sign that bitterness had lingered from their court battle and separation. Members of Venice society wondered whether they would forgive and forget.

It was their third meeting on successive days. Last night the countess passed a table where her husband was sitting with friends on her hotel veranda and accepted his invitation to join the party. The night before they talked for an hour in a quiet corner of the hotel bar and were reported to have danced together.

The count arrived by airplane from Budapest Thursday.

CAMP DECLARES BACKING GIVEN TO HELP STATE

Says Roosevelt's 'March Through Georgia' Is For Good Of Georgia

VINDICATION ASKED BY GEORGE IN UNEQUAL FIGHT

Atlanta Federal District Attorney Says President's Intervention Necessary

ATLANTA, Aug. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's candidate for the senate, Lawrence Camp, defended the chief executive's intervention in the Georgia primary campaign asserting today it was for the state's own good.

The New Dealer, endorsed by the president for the seat now held by Senator Walter F. George, a foe of some key administration measures, seized on the senator's accusation that Mr. Roosevelt was making a "second march through Georgia."

President Roosevelt, said Camp in a radio address at nearby Marietta, "has marched in Georgia but he has marched for Georgia."

The Atlanta federal district attorney said Mr. Roosevelt's intervention was necessary because the "forces of entrenched greed" with the aid of the "subsidized daily press" were concealing the senator's record from the voters.

George, in a radio address tonight asserted he sought "vindication at the hands of Georgians in an unequal and uneven fight."

"We have given our president a great deal of power," the senior Georgia senator declared, "but we haven't given the president power to prescribe democracy and read me out of the party which I have served all my life."

George termed the Georgia senatorial campaign a "struggle for human liberty—a struggle in which the people are called on to choose their own representatives free from control and domination of an executive, by whatever name called."

Camp read a letter he said was signed by the Republican national committeeman from Georgia. In part it said, "It is most important that every Republican in Georgia enter the

BREAK EXPECTED IN MURDER CASE

Dr. William F. LaMance Tells Mother He Is Innocent Of Slaying

LACLEDE, Mo., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Colonel B. Marvin Casteel, superintendent of the Missouri highway patrol, said he expected a break today in the investigation of the vegetable cellar death of Mrs. Ella LaMance.

He did not elaborate.

Dr. William F. LaMance, the husband, is held on a murder charge.

Chemists were expected to report today on tests made of viscera specimens to determine whether poison killed the pretty 29-year-old former nurse.

Lon R. Owen, LaMance's attorney, has expressed confidence the reports would "show poison, which will be convincing proof of suicide."

At Ottawa, Kans., Mrs. R. F. O'Mara, sister of the dead woman, said Mrs. LaMance, despondent, had attempted suicide in 1930, three years before her marriage.

Mrs. LaMance's body was found Monday night on a cot in a vegetable cellar behind her home, across the street from General John J. Pershing's birthplace.

Sheriff Max Brown, who discovered the body shortly after the 34-year-old osteopath, only doctor in this

RESEARCH UNIT AT BOGALUSA PLANNED

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Dr. C. T. Dowell, director of the Louisiana State university agricultural experiment station, said today that the bureau of plant industry planned to locate a research unit at Bogalusa to study tung oil development in this area, the work to be carried on by the Louisiana and Mississippi agricultural experiment stations.

Approximately $50,000 has been allocated for the work from the $120,000 appropriated for the bureau for this work, Dowell said. Other stations are to be located in other sections of the south, he said.

The work at Bogalusa will begin about January 1 after necessary land and buildings have been obtained, Louisiana director said. Contracts providing for the work have already been signed, however, he added.

DEATON WILL HEAD TRI-STATE DEMOLAY

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Carl M. Deaton, Hot Springs, was elevated from first vice-president to president of the Tri-State DeMolay at the closing session of its 11th annual conclave today.

Jackson, Tenn., was awarded the 1939 conclave in a close contest over Memphis, DeMolay's highest honor, the legion of honor degree, was awarded to B. M. Huddleston, Jackson, Tenn., who also was elected to the office of first vice-president.

Other officers elected today were:

Carman Wallace, Jackson, Miss., second vice-president; Walter Thomas, Jackson, Tenn., secretary and treasurer, and Earnest Davis, Hot Springs, sergeant-at-arms.

Elected to the board of directors were J. Seth Pund, Memphis; W. T. Hunt, Little Rock; Mack Nash, Corinth, Miss.; Bob Pegues, Memphis, and Woodrow Sandusky, North Little Rock.

The group rejected at its closing session a proposal from Alabama and Louisiana members of the order that they be included in the conclave and the name changed from Tri-State to Dixie conclave.

In turning down the proposal, spokesmen said they felt "the Order of DeMolay probably can be further advanced with a smaller roll." The Tri-State conclave, members pointed out, now embraces a total of 1,500 members in Tennessee, Arkansas and Mississippi.

ELECTRIFICATION MEETING PLANNED

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Evon A. Ford, state chairman of the rural electrification authority, said today a state-wide rural electrification meeting would be held here Wednesday.

"Several high-ranking R. E. A. officials, including C. O. Falkenwald, director of the examining division, will be on hand," Ford said.

"They will advise persons interested in rural electrification development in Mississippi what steps to take in order to receive approval for tentative projects."

Student Center Structure Provides Needed Facilities

With the opening of the fall semester at Northeast Center, a new building, that of the student center, will be thrown open for the first time, a modern, two-story brick building on the campus that has been completed and furnished at a cost of $90,000.

The building is fireproof, of reinforced concrete, brick with stone trimmings, plans for which were prepared by the local firm of J. W. Smith and Associates. The exterior is of buff brick and matches the main administrative building in color scheme.

There are three entrances to the south. The extreme west one leads directly into the cafeteria which is newly furnished with artistic tables and chairs, the latest in serving facilities and with a kitchen that possesses all important modern devices required in a large kitchen. Labor-saving devices such as potato peelers, electric dishwashers and automatic refrigeration are embodied in the equipment. Walls of this room, like all others in the building, are cream color with dark brown frescoed borders. Floors are of a composition to imitate tile.

The central part of the building, also entered from an outside door on the south of the building, is devoted to a lounging room which has red, blue and yellow modernistic chairs and lounges. In the center of the room is a black glazed tile modernistic fireplace which contains over the mantel a large oil painting of LaZarre point, the work of a graduate of the center, Evelyn Hill. This picture delineates the beauty of Louisiana scenery and is an attractive feature.

The east end of the building contains the postoffice, book store and place where soft drinks are on sale, tables being scattered through the room. This room also has immediate approach from without through an entrance to the street.

The second floor contains modern dormitories for members of athletic teams, each with double-decker beds, lavatories, large shaving glasses, individual clothes closets and other facilities. An abundance of baths and showers is provided on this floor and there is a trunk room and apartments for two coaches or athletic directors.

Dean C. C. Colvert especially emphasized the fact that each room has a native table of highly polished pecan wood. Many people are not aware that pecan wood can be used in furniture building, he explained, and he is pleased to show its possibilities.

This building will permit a lounging place for students when not in class and will permit the removal of the book-store, the postoffice and cafeteria out of the main building. A faculty room will be equipped in the quarters formerly used for the cafeteria in the main building, and the registrar's office and that of the business administration will be each assigned separate offices, as the college's growth has required larger space for each department.

One of the features that attended the erection of the new student center was the fact that $90,000, assigned by the state for the erection of the structure, proved sufficient to complete the building and left sufficient reserve to allow for the purchase of all needed furniture which was regarded as a tribute to the excellent management of Dean Colvert.

CHANGE IN TRAFFIC ROUTING ANNOUNCED

A change in traffic routing at DeSiard and Jackson street was announced yesterday by Chief of Police Frank V. Reitzell who stated that, effective Monday, no left turns would be allowed traffic entering DeSiard street from Jackson street.

"Because of congestion of traffic at this point," Chief Reitzell said, "the motoring public is being asked to cooperate in this matter so as to make the traffic situation better for all concerned."

All traffic entering DeSiard street from Jackson street will be required to turn east on DeSiard in the future, according to the order.

DOG ATTACKS RAT, GETS LEG BITTEN

RUSTON, La., Aug. 20.—(Special)—No Ruston man is reported to have bitten a dog, which doesn't make news, but a Ruston rat did bite a dog the other day, according to B. C. Van Hook, who heard the wailing and saw the gnashing of teeth, he said.

The dog, a rat terrier at that, started the thing, and the rat let her have it on a leg, Mr. Van Hook testifies. Then the canine of the species went to work in earnest and put the rodent to death.

KIN OF MRS. GRISHAM DIES IN TORONTO, ONT.

Mrs. O. M. Grisham, 1906 Riverside drive, has just received word of the death of her cousin, J. Edward Murray, of Baltimore, Md., in a Toronto, Ont., hospital, of pneumonia. He was at his summer home in Ontario when stricken with his fatal illness. The body was removed to Baltimore, where the funeral and interment took place.

Mr. Murray was president of several large drug, hotel and other corporations in Baltimore. He was a nephew of the late Captain Isaac Emerson, founder of the Emerson Drug company, of which concern Mr. Murray was president at the time of his death. He was prominent in civic, fraternal and social circles in his home city and widely esteemed. He leaves his widow and three children.

Mrs. Grisham had visited in the Murray home in Baltimore only a few months ago and members of that family had visited Monroe in times past.

Real Estate Transfers

Herbert L. Rosenhein sold to Sig Masur and Sons, Inc., a certain lot and building thereon, known as lot 7 of square 3 of the old plat of Monroe, for $10,000 cash, according to a real estate transfer recorded yesterday at the office of the clerk of court of Ouachita parish.

The property, a part of the old Nelson estate, was described as fronting 60 feet on the south line of St. Ann street and having a depth of 150 feet.

CHOIR MEMBERS HURT

KOBLENZ, Germany, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Thirteen members of the well known Don Cossack Russian choir were badly hurt today when a bus in which 40 singers of the organization were traveling crashed into a tree. Ten were injured less severely. The victims were taken to hospitals in Neuwied and Koblenz.

LOCAL FIRM IS 42 YEARS OLD

Trousdale And Wright Company Holds Banquet To Celebrate Anniversary

Celebrating 42 years of continuous service to the public of Monroe and her trade territory, the firm of Trousdale and Wright, Ltd., general insurance and merchandise brokers, held a banquet in the Hotel Virginia Cameo room Friday at 7:30 p.m. Nineteen attended the affair, representing staff members and their families.

George W. Trousdale, secretary-treasurer of the company, and manager of the insurance deperiment, acted as master-of-ceremonies, and after a bounteous banquet had been served, various members delivered short talks, stressing highlights in the progress of the company.

J. Harvey Trousdale reminiscently traced the growth of the company from its inception in 1896 when it was a one-man concern. Mr. Trousdale at that time spent part of the day conducting his brokerage business, which at the outset serviced only Monroe wholesale houses. Then he devoted the other hours of the day to building up his insurance business. From this humble start in which he was aided in the insurance business by the late Colonel Frank P. Stubbs, he purchased the J. L. Kaliski agency, and continued to expand his business until at this time he has six employes in the brokerage department and six in the insurance business, each of which is operated entirely distinct from the other department.

The field has expanded so that now north Louisiana and south Arkansas are serviced by the company.

Discussing the unusual success of the company, Mr. Trousdale said that it had been made possible by the giving of dependable service, constant attention to business and loyalty of the staff as well as of those insured or served with brokerage requirements.

He said that a large number of the leading firms here and in the Monroe area have patronized this firm continuously through the more than four decades of its existence.

All staff members added brief tributes to the officers of the firm and expressed the hope that the success that has attended the past years will be continued in the future which at the present time has an unusually bright outlook.

The officers of Trousdale and Wright are as follows: J. H. Trousdale, president; E. G. Wright, vice-president; G. W. Trousdale, secretary-treasurer.

Those present at the banquet were J. H. Trousdale and Mrs. Trousdale; George W. Trousdale and Mrs. Trousdale; E. G. Wright, Mrs. Wright and son, Tommie; James Trousdale and Mrs. Trousdale; Jimmie McCormick and Mrs. McCormick; J. S. McNabb and Mrs. McNabb; Darwin G. Nichols, R. L. Spence and Mrs. Spence, Miss Doris Cassidy, Miss Leila W. Nesom and Miss Agatha Burkett.

In the insurance department 17 of the leading old line companies are represented through the firm of Trousdale and Wright, and 30 well known firms, whose products are household names, are handled by the local company.

J. Harvey Trousdale, to whose sagacity, broad vision and generally square dealing are attributed the underlying causes of the success of his company, is the son of the late David B. Trousdale, who removed his family from Tennessee to Union parish when J. H. Trousdale was 18 years of age. In course of time, David B. Trousdale became sheriff of Union parish and was regarded as one of its foremost and most public-spirited citizens.

J. Harvey Trousdale received his education in Monroe schools and elsewhere. He was one of a group who succeeded in bringing in the first well in the Monroe gas field and has ever since held extensive gas interests.

He is regarded as one of the best known and most civic minded of Monroe residents, being a member of the Ouachita parish school board; a past president of Rotary; past president of the Chamber of Commerce, and is affiliated prominently with such fraternal groups as the Knights of Pythias, Masons and others. He is also a steward of the First Methodist church.

GASOLINE FIRE BURNS MAN IN WEST MONROE

Flames from a bucket of burning gasoline ignited by a spark from a cigarette were the cause of painful burns suffered Saturday by H. W. Roberts, 512 Clayton avenue, West Monroe. Roberts was putting gasoline in his car, which was parked on Clayton avenue. He had already poured one bucketful in, and had filled the bucket again, when a spark from the cigarette of a passerby set the gasoline afire, it was stated.

Roberts suffered burns on his hands and arms. He was taken for treatment to St. Francis sanitarium, where his condition was reported as not serious. Roberts is employed by a packing company.

The grant will apply on a total sum of approximately $350,000 for buildings and improvements at the negro school, Mr. Wright said.

NEGRO ARRESTED FOR PUTTING OUT EYE

Ernest Evans, negro, charged with causing the loss of an eye by Ethel Willis, negro, 604 North 26th street, was arrested here yesterday by members of the sheriff's department. He was being held in the Ouachita parish jail last night, unable to post a $1,000 bond.

The Willis woman lost an eye in a fight with Evans on last July 2, sheriff's deputies said, when the negro man was said to have struck her on the head with a bottle. Evans escaped from the city, but officers learned yesterday that he was back and soon captured him.

QUIET VOTE SEEN IN MISSISSIPPI

Flurry Of 11th-Hour Speaking Over Week-End Fails To Stir Excitement

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Mississippi's congressional campaigns remained in the doldrums today as voters prepared half-heartedly to go to the polls Tuesday for the Democratic primaries.

Even a flurry of 11th-hour speechmaking over the week-end failed to excite the electorate over the "off-year" races.

Political observers termed the campaigns the quietest in years.

Although six of the state's seven national representatives face opposition Tuesday—Congressmen Will M. Whittington of Greenwood (third district) being unopposed—the campaigns have been virtually void of ballyhoo, issues and interest.

In the large and populous seventh district, where Congressman Dan McGehee is opposed by District Attorney Hugh Gillespie and State Representative Tom Reed and most interest centers, speeches have been many but nobody was too late to get a good seat.

McGehee and Gillespie have dwelt largely on personalities as 38-year-old Reed steered clear of this phase of the wrangle and asked nomination as a "progressive" candidate.

All three candidates close their campaigns with "open air" speeches here Monday night.

Rivalling in interest the seventh district race has been the first district campaign involving John Rankin, Washington veteran, State Representative Sam Lumpkin and Minister Charles Hamilton.

Most has been heard from the Rankin and Lumpkin camps. Lumpkin, less than a dozen years removed from college, has assailed gray-haired Rankin as an "inflationist" with the incumbent seemingly content to coast along for reelection on his record.

NEGRO CONFESSES STEALING PENNIES

John Wheeler, 20, negro, who was arrested Friday morning by members of the West Monroe police department after he was found in the combination store and residence of Irving B. (Bud) Warner, 214 Montgomery street, yesterday confessed stealing $12 in pennies from the store three weeks ago and also atttempting to break into Singleton's store on Coleman avenue, sheriff's deputies said.

Wheeler had already confessed Friday, officers said, that he had robbed the Warner grocery on July 22 of about $8 after breaking into the building through a window. The negro had been employed at the store for about two months.

The negro was captured early Friday morning when Warner was awakened by a noise under his bed and, after getting a gun and flashlight, found the negro. The negro was said to have had an open knife in his hand at the time and $5 which he had taken from the grocer's clothing.

Our Good Neighbor

Equipped with a portable typewriter, a candid camera and a pair of field glasses—all objects of suspicion in Europe—Andrue Berding, formerly chief of an American press bureau in Rome, made a tour of the Canadian borderline, studying the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway, and not once was he molested by an official.

"After 12 years spent in Europe," he writes, "it was an almost unbelievable experience. Gone were passport formalities, customs formalities, currency formalities, the usual half-hour wait beneath the prying eyes and fingers of guards and officials."

Twice he crossed back into the United States to visit strategic points and on neither occasion was his name asked. He found that the border "seemed more symbolic than real."

Mr. Berding's experience is the experience of almost anyone who has traveled from the United States to Canada, or from Canada to the United States since repeal of prohibition. There is little formality, there is courtesy instead of suspicion, kindness instead of the tyrannical harshness so common among the petty officials of some European countries.

Truly, it is a wonderful feeling that exists between the Dominion and her neighboring republic, feeling that daily grows stronger in mutual trust. Whenever there is any dispute in trade, sane men sit down to the table and calmly discuss and arrange the affairs to the satisfaction of all.

Compare this frank characteristic with the belligerent feeling that exists in Europe and one may begin to realize how a little border clash may be the spark that will set the whole world on fire.

A LITTLE TIRESOME

The American public has been quite tolerant and patient with the publicity methods of the Hollywood producers who have undertaken production of "Gone With the Wind." It has whipped up an interest in the selection of players for the two principal roles, Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler, has engaged in speculation and controversy and in other ways has lent its cooperation to the sweet uses of publicity.

When Miss Shearer was chosen for Scarlett O'Hara and Clark Gable for Rhett there was a natural assumption that the end of the controversial aspects of production had been written and that the actual appearance of the film could be awaited with undisturbed equanimity.

But the whole business, it seems, is to start all over again. The serene and beauteous Miss Shearer has decided that the role of the fiery, unscrupulous Scarlett is not suited to her personality and talents, and has decliped it. Clark Gable is torn by doubts. He questions whether it will be possible to interpret satisfactorily a role which several hundred thousand readers have already interpreted to their own satisfaction.

The Hollywood producers are reasonably shrewd. It is time they began to reckon with the danger that the public has had to hear so much of "Gone With the Wind" it will be weary of the very mention of the name long before the film appears. Even now the whole question is becoming somewhat of a bore and there would be no furor of indignation if Jane Withers and Mickey Rooney were assigned the coveted roles.

KNEES AS CLEWS

Some wonderful things come out of Hollywood. Sometimes they're so extraordinary a man can scarcely believe them.

The latest is a new method of reading character. It seems, according to dance director LeRoy Prinz, that the way to tell what a girl's really like is to look at her knees. Long knees, he says, indicate a considerate nature, loyalty, and dependability; round knees, talent and artistic temperament; chubby knees, laziness; hollow knees, true femininity. And so on.

Well, there may be something to it. Mr. Prinz ought to know his subject; he sees more acres of knees a day than you and you see in a year. Probably the best place for a suitor to learn about his girl's disposition is at the beach, in the light of this revelation. But if the hemline trend in dresses keeps up almost any place will do before long.

Which suggests, suddenly, why girls may go for floor-length gowns at evening affairs. It's in the evening, at dances, when romances bloom. And you can't read character by knees under those circumstances. The pleasantest-looking gown on the dance floor may conceal the worst-tempered knees at the party.

Gosh, fellows, it's no use. They're always a step ahead of us.

Those who have been longing for a good old-fashioned summer now have it. And those who have not been longing for it have it, too.

Our feeling for the Chinese is really very deep, says a spokesman for the Japanese, who say it with bombs.

A bluff is nine-tenths of the law until, as Herr Hitler can testify, it is overworked.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Country visitors get to see more or what there is to see in this town in their usual three days' stay than the average native sees in a whole lifetime.

That may sound foolish but I have run into more than one sample of native Washingtonian who never has set foot on the White House grounds although they are open every day. Even part of the White House may be visited by casual folk during forenoons from 10 to 12.

A neighbor of mine has lived 50 years in Washington—was born here—and in that time has repeatedly toured the country east and west, inspecting "spots" in San Francisco, New York and New Orleans. But he has never seen the senate in session, has never seen President Roosevelt (and says he doesn't want to), and was in the Smithsonian institution only once, when a visiting relative insisted on being taken there.

Home Town Pride

After lunch the other day a young engineer walked with me past the White House and remarked that in 11 years in Washington he never had set foot in the building, although he had wanted to ever since coming. By the time he gets off work, the major federal activities also have shut down.

"Why don't you take a couple of days of your vacation and see the town?"

The idea seemed to appeal to him for a moment, but suddenly he blurted:

"People would think I was crazy."

So instead he will go to New York again for half his vacation and spend the rest on the seashore. Arriving in New York he will meet New Yorkers boarding trains for Washington to see the White House and ride up to the top of Washington monument.

When I made that observation to a New York friend one time he well nigh cut me down.

"You don't see any New Yorkers leaving this town to visit Washington," he said. "Those are just trainloads of homesick Washington yokels heading for home."

Cool Subject Encore

Once before it was written in this column that the air cooling systems in the big federal buildings are not all that could be asked as promoters of health. A physician said that since they were installed his summer practice has increased remarkably—sore throats and colds. The federalisti stay cool as cream until mid-afternoon when they plunge out into blistering temperatures to go home. The shock gets them.

The new interior building is worst. Honest, they chill the help in that place until the stenographers have frost on 'em. Secretary Ickes didn't go to Alaska to see the scenery. He went up there to get warm.

This travelog can't be ended without your hearing of Louis Bean. He came from Odessa, Russia, a number of years ago, unable to speak English. Now he has a string of degrees and is statistical adviser to Secretary Wallace of agriculture. He was chatting with Secretary Wallace and an under-secretary recently before leaving for New Orleans on departmental business.

"Louis," said the under-secretary, "if you'll come to my office before you go I'll give you a hot list of telephone numbers."

Secretary Wallace smiled and asked Bean:

"Louis, what would you do with a list of telephone numbers?"

"Oh," grinned Louie the statistician, "I'd add 'em all together and divide by 10."

HOUSING PROBLEM ARISES

By BRUCE CATTON

If the world is really interested in ending the unrest of its peoples, it will do some hard, serious thinking about the job which the International Refugee conference is tackling.

This conference faces the task of finding some sort of permanent homes for the millions of people who have been thrown out of their Euorpean homelands. Their presence as an undigested lump in the world's body politic is like the presence of a source of infection in the human body; it must be removed if the body is to regain good health.

You cannot have a stable world, satisfied to exist on its old basis, as long as so many people are completely uprooted. In sheer self-defense, the world has got to find a place for them.

So far, so good. A place must be found. But where?

Well, one of the things we Americans will have to think about is the proposal that a certain number of the refugees be settled in the United States. It has been pointed out, for instance, that during the next five years refugees will have to be "placed" at the rate of half a million a year, and that America and Great Britain might properly agree to absorb half of that number annually, between them.

Now the objections to any such proposal are easy to anticipate. We have millions of people out of work, as it is; can we afford to take on huge new groups each year, find places for them, put them into the labor market? Our farmers, too, are growing more things than they can sell profitably; do we want thousands of immigrants to establish new farms each year, thereby adding to the country's agricultural production?

Those questions aren't easily answered. Yet in the long run the scheme might well be a very good one, from a strictly selfish viewpoint.

For one thing, it is at least possible that one reason for our protracted slump is the fact that our whole economic system is keyed to a steady growth in population, and that that growth has been slowing up of late. For another, refugees from European despotisms have in the past contributed largely to the upbuilding of this country; they might well do so again.

In any case, the problem needs serious thought. World unrest won't end until this refugee problem is decently settled.

A BOOK REVIEW

HE SEES BRITAIN AIDING FUTURE FOE

Apologists for current policies of the British government insist that Prime Minister Chamberlain is trying to keep peace and save the empire. Unless he deals with the dictators "realistically," they say, Britain will be plunged into a disastrous war.

Now Norman Angell is a pacifist from 'way back; so when he puts the Chamberlain policy under the microscope—as he does in "Peace With the Dictators?"—a pretty good appraisal of that policy ought to be forthcoming.

It is. Mr. Angell believes that the "realistic" policy now being followed will bring England neither peace nor security; on the contrary, he asserts, it must lead directly to war and disaster. By making it clear that she will not fight for any form of collective security, or for any purpose at all except defense of her own territory, he says, Britain merely enables the "have-not" nations to accumulate every conceivable advantage against the day when they desire to carve up the property of the richest of all the "haves"—Great Britain.

Yet, he continues, simply to prepare for war is not enough. Germany was soundly whipped in 1918—yet the "German menace" is greater today than it was in 1914. Victory is not enough, alliances are not enough; only a working understanding by which aggressor nations will be restrained by the threat of international force will bring about a stable peace.

This, continues Mr. Angell, means implementing the Kellogg pact and the league covenant. It does not mean freezing the status quo; it simply means that a world which wants peace has got to insist that changes must come peacefully—and must fight, if necessary, to make the point stick. Otherwise, he says, no nation can get security except by the insecurity of its neighbors, and there can never be an end to the threat of war.

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1938, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Saratoga Springs is nearing the end of a doleful season. The crowds have been pretty good. The weather hasn't been too bad. The horses have run about as they always do, for the books. But the whirr of the roulette wheel has not been heard in the land, or the seductive slither of the cards at baccarat. Gambling has been banned and barred, and the law enforced for the first time in years.

No amount of blue law severity can spoil Saratoga for me. It's a charming old place, still living back in the elegant 80's, a sleepy old place most of the time, where even the birds seem to go to bed earlier than they do most places.

Saratoga's history goes back a long way. It all began 154 years ago when General Philip Schuyler, riding with General Washington over the Saratoga battlefield where they beat the British General Johnny Burgoyne and his red coats so badly, said to Mr. Washington:

"There are some wonderful springs off in the woods here. Let me show them to you." So the two generals rode their horses to the bubbling springs the Indians had known about for centuries, and Mr. Washington sniffed, tasted and drank, and ever since then people have been going to Saratoga Springs, by the thousands, to take the waters for gout, or rheumatism, or heart troubles and, undoubtedly, be the better for it.

A fascinating place, this little town of Saratoga Springs, for more than half a century battered by the attacks of countless reformers. The object of their attacks has ever been the race horses and their attendant gamblers. But although Saratoga belongs to King Thoroughbred in the month of August, it has a great deal more to offer than the race track and the roulette tables.

Saratoga really belongs to the age of Curls and Crinoline. The place has aged gracefully and has moderanized with an obvious tinge of regret. A whole phase of American history has passed under its spreading trees and along its wide streets. And the rambling surreys, with raveled fringes, which still roam for hire along those historic streets, fit neatly into the quaint old picture familiar to those who knew Saratoga in its golden days.

There was no race course then, but there were many private road races on the heavy, sandy roads, with the early American aristocrats driving their own fast pacers and trotters to high-wheel sulkies. Gambling was conducted sub rosa, but flourished greatly, and our great-grandmothers were no less sporting than their great-granddaughters of today. Everybody was up with the sun, except many of the men who never went to bed at all.

Joseph Bonaparte, brother of the great Napoleon, lived there during part of his exile. Mme. Jumel, who was to marry Aaron Burr after innumerable amours, made her appearance at Saratoga in those quaint old days. Rouged and gorgeously gowned, she drove up and down Broadway every day, bowing right and left, although she knew not a soul in the place. A noted wag dressed himself to imitate her costume and followed her in a carriage, grimacing to the crowds and aping her bows, and this incident so angered Mme. Jumel that she left the springs, much to the relief of the society matrons.

The railroad came in the middle of the century, along with the German cotillion, the polka, and the redowa, and society danced all night to orchestras imported from New York.

Thackery and Charles Dickens visited the springs and Washington Irving was fond of the place. William H. Vanderbilt and his fine trotting horses were often seen. Open gambling came in with John Morrissey, one-time champion heavyweight and ex-member of congress, and it was Morrissey who established the race course in 1864.

Then came the Whitneys and the Vanderbilts and the Goelets, and the real days of golden glory for Saratoga, and Richard Canfield, probably the greatest gambler the world has ever known. But Saratoga goes on and, by official action of the state of New York, is one of the greatest of the world's medical centers.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a woman glance at the check when she is dining with a man?
2. Should a guest make introductions among other guests, or should she leave that to her hostess?
3. Should a girl offer to go Dutch treat when a boy asks her to go to a movie?
4. Should a girl offer to meet a man outside a theater, or should she let him come to her house for her?
5. Should a girl offer her hand to a man when he is introduced to her?

What would you do if—

You were a girl going with a young man whose salary was smaller than your own?

(a) Offer to split the check with him, whenever you go out together?

(b) Suggest inexpensive entertainments once in a while—where he won't have to spend much money?

(c) Take him to dinner at a restaurant once in a while?

Answers

1. No. Nor when she is the guest of another woman.
2. Leave it to the hostess—unless the party is very large and an introduction seems necessary when the hostess isn't around.
3. No.
4. Let him come for her.
5. If she wants to, though it isn't necessary.

Best "What Would You Do" solution—(b). It is more gracious for it saves a man's pride.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

BY ALICIA HART
(NEA Service Staff Writer)

The fact that you have very little money to spend on expensive creams, lotions and professional treatments is no excuse for a blemished complexion, dingy hair and an unattractive figure. One or two good preparations, a little of the time you usually spend doing nothing, and enough stick-to-itiveness to do each planned routine each and every day will suffice. For example—

A thorough, nightly brushing is just about the best treatment for hair. And this is true whether it is too dry, too oily or just plain lifeless looking. One who brushes her hair every single night, using upward and outward strokes, of course, is sure to see an improvement within three months and a great deal of improvement within six.

The simplest, most painless way to lose weight is to take a long, brisk walk and do a few reducing exercises every single day. And to eat smaller portions of everything. No fad diets, mind you—just smaller portions and, of course, no rich desserts.

Closing Large Pores

The easiest and, incidentally, the best way to get rid of blackheads is to give your face a little extra attention every other night for two or three weeks. Simply scrub with soap and water, cover the infected areas with a towel which has been dipped in very hot water and wrung until fairly dry. After the gentle steaming, cover forefingers with cotton, then press out a few of the blackheads. Pat the irritated spots with an antiseptic and let it dry. Unless your skin is quite dry, apply skin tonic or witch hazel instead of night cream.

And for nail health, see that your manicures are ever so gentle—no scraping of the surface with steel instruments—and drink quantities of milk and orange juice.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein
(Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine)

Recently newspapers reported the deaths of a considerable number of children in one town in Michigan—these children having become infected with an organism of the dysentery type called the Shiga bacillus. While this condition is uncommon, it is not rare. A number of cases are likely to be seen every summer in the warmer areas.

It has been reported that some 50 to 100 children die each year in the state of Illinois from infection with the Shiga bacillus.

The organism is called the Shiga bacillus because of the Japanese investigator who first isolated it. It is only one of a number of different bacteria which may cause dysentery in children. All of these germs are small and difficult to identify.

The Shiga germ was first found in an outbreak of dysentery in Japan in 1898. A few years later Simon Flexner discovered a similar organism in cases of dysentery in the Philippine islands, and since that time cases of dysentery caused by this organism have been found in almost every state in the union.

This germ is never found outside the body except as a contamination of excreted material. Perhaps it is passed from one person to another by contamination of the food supply.

Usually it requires from four to five days from the time the germs are taken into the body till the disease appears. In mild cases there may be a fever up to 101 degrees, together with some of the symptoms usually associated with the mild fever. The chief symptom, however, is the appearance of from six to eight bowel movements each day with material that is bloody and full of mucus. Cases may vary from those of moderate severity to some that are so serious that the temperature will go to 104 degrees and the patients die within a few days.

It is not possible for the average person to attempt to diagnose whether or not a serious diarrhea is due to an infection with dysentery organisms or represents some other reaction of the body. It should be realized however, that any severe attack of diarrhea in the child is serious, and that the attention of a physician is to be had as soon as possible if the patient is to be given an even chance for recovery. The younger the baby, the greater is the danger.

One of the most important steps to be taken is to make certain that the child who is infected has enough water, since in diarrhea there is loss of a great deal of water from the body. It is also important to provide these children with food in proper amounts and of the right character, because the fever will result in a real loss of weight by increasing the body chemistry.

If the weather is especially hot, the child should be removed to a fairly cool climate as soon as it has recovered from the diarrhea and be given an opportunity to convalesce with good food, plenty of fresh air, rest, baths, and the other measures that can be carried out to promote recovery.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON—Secretary Hull is peeved at Mexico and perplexity adds to his annoyance.

Briefly, it's this way: The U. S. says it's fundamental international law that confiscated foreign-owned property should be paid for and has asked arbitration of American claims for land Mexico has taken and an indication of the future Mexican attitude as to payment for expropriated oil wells. Mexico answers there's no obligation in international law for payment but admits obligation under Mexican law and says she will be glad to talk it over. Hull fumes because the U. S. and Mexico have been talking about these claims since 1927 and claimants haven't seen a single peso.

The state department believes that if Mexico gets away with taking American property, other Latin American countries will start grabbing American copper mines in Peru, copper and nitrate in Chile, fruit, utility, railroad and other properties. There's no disposition to invite such an expropriation wave as an answer to the "good neighbor" policy.

But Germany and Italy, hoping for a big U. S.-Mexico row, already are trying to capitalize the issue in Latin America. This, plus sympathy for Mexico's social reform program, and knowledge that Mexico is broke and headed downhill economically, complicates everything.

President Cardenas continues popular with Mexicans. But conservative army generals may pull a coup d'etat as his economic and political troubles pile up. The state department, worrying about Nazi-Fascist penetration, doesn't want that, either.

Hoover's In Demand

A recent visitor to Palo Alto was shown 602 telegrams and letters requesting Herbert Hoover to come and speak. Mostly from Republican organizations. Hoover will make at least three major speeches before November's elections.

Unlike President Roosevelt, who has collaborating ghosts, Hoover writes all his own speeches, laboriously in longhand. Usually he over-writes and is forced to compress. He has a couple of men who gather facts, and usually goes over the manuscript with friends before casting a speech in final form.

Star—Or Understudy?

Certain department of labor officials have been irked by the calm insistence of Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews on sticking tight in his job as New York's state industrial commissioner pending Mr. Roosevelt's return.

Andrews, one hears, wants to know whether he's to be a star in the show, or just an understudy taking orders from Secretary Frances Perkins and advisers.

Some department officials have been eager to shoulder policy responsibility for the new law. But Andrews, although technically under Miss Perkins, has played a powerful independent role on his New York job. The wage-hour act gives him full discretion—even to the point that he has been able to delay setting up of its machinery by failing to appear in Washington.

U. S. H. A.'s 'Good Turn'

Widely published has been a report that U. S. Housing Authority timed a $3,500,000 slum clearance allotment for San Antonio, Tex., to help renominate Congressman Maury Maverick, beaten by 500 votes a few days later.

Don't remind Maverick of it. USHA wired the glad news to San Antonio's Mayor Quinn, head of the city machine which licked Maverick. Quinn was thus able to announce the allotment and take full credit while the machine used the telegram as evidence that Maverick's claims of having wrangled fat appropriations for his district were phony.

STAMP NEWS

By I. S. Klein

THE Dutch, by the Peace of Breda in 1667, ceded Manhattan Island to England in exchange for Surinam. And they have held this territory, about the size of New Jersey and Pennsylvania combined, continuously since. Better known as Dutch Guiana, Surinam lies just above the equator, between British and French Guiana on the northern coast of South America.

Its area is about 54,000 square miles and its population 164,000 exclusive of Negroes and Indians living in the inaccessible forests and savannas. Its climate is torrid but it attracts men from many nations, because gold lies in its matted jungles. History is replete with Spanish tales of the Guiana Indians who wore gold, of buried treasure, of a lost city paved with the precious metal.

Surinam today is not that rich, but its placers yield heavy returns. And along the coastal plains that border on the Atlantic is a series of rich plantations where sugar, coffee and other tropical stuffs have been grown uninterruptedly and without fertilizer for 300 years. Behind these lie the most beautiful hardwoods to be found anywhere in the world. The Negroes cut and carry these down to Paramaribo, capital and chief port. A Negro girl is shown here on a current Surinam stamp.

COMMUNISTS IN 'INNOCENT CLUBS'

congress now meeting at Vassar, which was addressed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt this week, was "nothing more nor less than one of the 'united front' maneuvers dedicated to forwarding the aim of the foreign policy of the Soviet Union."

At least 35 of the 50 American delegates belonged to Communist front organizations, he said.

In response to direct questioning, Matthews, who said he had made five trips to the Soviet Union since 1928, said the communists exploited the publicity value of such a speaker as Mrs. Roosevelt, who could thus innocently be aiding the work of the party.

The witness said he was organizer and first secretary of the American League for Peace and Democracy, an organization to which several government officials belong.

Relating that he had been an active participant in the organization work of about 20 organizations which he said formed part of the Communist front, Matthews told the committee many intimate details of his link with the Communist party. He said he did not belong to the party but worked with it as a "fellow traveler." That was the name given Communist sympathizers who, for strategic reasons, did not carry party cards, he testified.

As a "fellow traveler," he said, he was identified with the Students Congress Against War, the American Student union, the American Youth congress, the Unemployed council, various groups to aid or free Tom Mooney, the International Labor Defense, the Federated Press, and other organizations.

"The American Youth congress is an excellent example of the methods and purpose of the Communist party's united fronts," he said. "Among the organizations which have been persuaded to endorse the Youth congress and to participate in its communist-guided work we find numerous groups of Christian young people, such as the National Council of Methodist Youth and the Christian Youth Conference of North America.

"Among the individuals sponsoring the Youth congress, as members of its so-called national advisory committee, we find, in addition to the usual left wingers who appear frequently on united front committees, the name of Ralph S. Cushman, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, Harold G. Hoffman, former governor of New Jersey and Henry N. MacCracken, president of Vassar."

"Ostensibly, these organizations and individuals are associated with a youth organization which is dedicated to peace as one of its major goals. Actually they are being made the innocent dupes of a carefully contrived communist maneuver. By peace, as the communists understand and work for it, is meant a breathing spell during which the world revolution of the proletariat may be prepared."

Among others he named on the advisory committee list were Senator Frazier of North Dakota, Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic union; William F. Quillian, general secretary of the general board for Christian education of the Methodist Episcopal church, South; William Allen White, famous editor of Emporia, Kans.; Governor Elmer Benson of Minnesota, and many teachers, professors, and others.

Matthews, a neatly dressed and scholarly professor who formerly taught oriental languages at Howard university here, said he now is head of a research laboratory at Washington, N. J.

MACCRACKEN DEFENDS WORLD YOUTH CONGRESS

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Henry N. MacCracken, president of Vassar college today defended the World Youth congress and denied he was being "exploited" by Communists.

Commenting on testimony given by Dr. J. B. Matthews, writer and educator, before the house committee on un-American activities at Washington that Dr. MacCracken, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and other prominent Americans were being "exploited" by the Communist party of America, the Vassar president said:

"I think I have sufficient intelligence to know when I am being exploited. I am a Mayflower descendant. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is a Roosevelt and I am an American of the Americans. I think it is too bad when you have 500 people so deeply interested in the affairs of the world that the American public should be treated to a set of agitated exclamations about an unimportant part of the whole gathering, possibly the least important."

The congress, in session at Vassar college, was attended today by Mrs. Roosevelt who, early this week, addressed the delegates. Reached at Hyde Park, N. Y., Mrs. Roosevelt declined to comment on Dr. Matthews' statements.

"I would suggest they (the critics) wait and read the resolutions of the congress," Dr. MacCracken continued. "If I were to name the five most intelligent women in the world, Mrs. Roosevelt would be one of them. . . . I don't think she is being exploited by anyone."

He referred to the house investigation as a "campaign" investigation, which "will turn into a boomerang."

REMOVAL OF ALL FOREIGN TROOPS FROM CHINA ASKED

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—With Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt an attentive listener, Professor P. C. Chang of Nankai university, China, today called for the removal of "all foreign troops from China, not only those of Japan," in offering a peace program for the Far East.

Addressing the commission on political and economic bases of peace of the second World Youth congress in session here, Chang also pleaded for a "new and improved Washington treaty to guarantee the territorial integrity and national rights of China" and "effective naval limitation."

Aubrey Williams, director of the National Youth administration in an address said "you will do good if you do nothing but stand together."

TRIAL OF HINES BATTLE FOR LAW

Whatever comes of the Silverman incident, it serves to demonstrate Dewey's scientific, business-like system. Silverman was located by a routine check of fingerprints, within a fortnight of his arrest.

As District Attorney Dewey and the first of his 55 witnesses pictured it to the jury this week, the racket began with penny bets placed by the negroes of Harlem. Each better staked his mite on a hope that he could guess a combination of numbers that would turn up in the New York clearing house totals, in the total sales on the stock exchange, or in the pari-mutuel betting boards of race tracks. The odds were 1 in 1,000 and the "take" ran into the millions.

The bettors placed their bets with "collectors"—newsboys, cigar store or small shop owners, or roving free agents—who took out 10 per cent. The "collectors" pooled their income with a "controller," who took out 5 per cent. The "controllers" forked over a "banker" who paid off the winners and kept the profits.

There were a number of "bankers" in the business when Schultz first appeared and decided to consolidate the whole thing as part of his illicit empire. Three of them, Joseph "Spasm" Ison, Wilfrid Brunder and Alexander Pompez, all negroes have testified to having been "bought out" by the gangster at gunpoint. Each was promised one-third of the profits, but never got it. They had to be content with salaries ranging from $100 to $250 a week.

Schultz was collecting millions but, these bankers testified, too much of it was going out in unnecessary expense for bail and fines for "employes" arrested in raids.

To put a stop to this, Ison told the jury in Justice Ferdinand Pecora's court, Schultz ordered contributions to the political club of "Jimmy" Hines, the Tammany chieftain. In the period in 1932 and 1933 when the prosecution charges Hines was employed as Schultz's "fixer," Ison said arrests dropped 50 per cent.

Pompez corroborated the "contributions" and Dewey back this piece of testimony with a statement from George Weinberg, another witness, that Weinberg paid off Hines in cash each week at Schultz's personal direction for "protection."

And, Weinberg added, Hines told him he (Hines) would be able to "take care of" police and magistrates.

Some act as watchmen, guide visitors and direct traffic on campus.

Miss Nora Neill Power, dean of women, recalls one coed arose at 5 o'clock every morning for four years to dust off music scores and pianos at the school of music."

Many students find small jobs off campus through the university employment service. Some men "jerk" sodas, act as theater ushers or work in filling stations. Some women take care of children or collect shoes needing repair.

Last term a group of coeds started an "apple a day" campaign and made money selling apples in the dormitories.

Last year the university employed 200 men to work its 2,500-acre farm north of the main campus here. This year 300 will tend the crops which are sold at campus markets to highest bidders.

The university is seeking federal aid in building cottages on the farm and employing several hundred more students to work and study "practical agriculture" during the day and attend classes on the campus at night.

Coroner J. H. Lucas reported the only mark of violence was a bruise on the left temple. He said a blood clot under the scalp might have been caused from a blow or a ruptured blood vessel.

Sheriff Brown said Dr. LaMance did not report his wife missing until she had been gone several days, explaining she frequently had left him for "two or three days" because of quarrels.

The doctor's mother and a negro washwoman testified at an inquest of finding blood in the LaMance home and on two pillowcases. LaMance said he had fallen against a glass door and the blood spots were from a head wound.

GERMANY ORDERS BRITISHER OUT

by DNB, official German news agency. The announcement reads:

"The head of the passport division in the British consulate general in Vienna, Captain Thomas Kendrick, has been arrested there because there were proofs of his conducting espionage."

ASKED TO LEAVE AT EARLIEST POSSIBLE TIME

LONDON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Captain Thomas Kendrick, veteran British passport officer mysteriously seized four days ago by German secret police, was ordered out of Germany today because of what an official German statement called "proof" of his conducting espionage.

The Berlin announcement stating the British ambassador, Sir Nevile Henderson, has been requested to see that Captain Kendrick leaves Vienna at the earliest possible moment, coincided with a terse British official announcement that he had been released from custody.

He had been held at the Hotel Metropole in Vienna, Gestapo headquarters, where the former Austrian Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg also was believed held.

Although British spokesman said they understood Captain Kendrick would leave Vienna for England tomorrow or Monday, they declared the nature of the accusation against him had not been communicated to the British government.

Kendrick was passport officer in Vienna for 13 years and had been called upon to grant hundreds of British visas for Jewish refugees since the annexation of Austria by Germany.

He and Mrs. Kendrick were en route to England by automobile when he was arrested and taken back to Vienna Wednesday.

A Reuters, British news agency, dispatch from Vienna, said Kendrick arrived at his home there at 1 p.m. following his release.

He declined to make any statement but Mrs. Kendrick said they were planning to go to England as soon as possible.

The British government officially informed Germany yesterday that a "serious view" was taken of the incident.

The first report of the arrest of Captain Kendrick, a reserve officer who despite his position did not enjoy diplomatic immunity, was rushed to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain at his Yorkshire home by a special messenger.

KENDRICK ALREADY ON WAY TO ENGLAND

VIENNA, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Information from the British consulate here today was that Captain Thomas Kendrick already had left Vienna and was on his way to England after being released about midday by German secret police.

A phone call to Kendrick's home was answered by a strange male voice which said the "captain isn't at home."

His wife, however, was believed still to be in Vienna.

The mayor said Mr. Roosevelt had "a couple of political jokes" and that O'Connor's race fell within their category.

"I served with O'Connor in congress for 10 years," LaGuardia continued, "hence my opposition." He said he would participate in the campaign against O'Connor "as a citizen of New York" rather than as a member of the American Labor party.

of government soldiers had been killed.

At the end of one of the most active weeks of fighting in months, Spanish war fronts had been little altered. Several of the Pandos hills, south of Gandesa, changed hands but the government held its foothold west of the Ebro river.

Much the same thing was true of the Segre river front, about 50 miles north of Gandesa. Even the strong insurgent offensive in southern Spain against the Almaden mercury mining region had been stopped.

The government counter-attacked on the Almaden front and at the close of the week the insurgents had been thrown back to a point 35 miles from the Almaden mines.

In the mask he tested, oxygen was mixed with air before it was inhaled.

Hughes' speed was 238 miles per hour.

Coatless and attired in gray trousers, a white shirt and a brown hat—a new one, because his round-the-world "dicer" was stolen on his return to New York—Hughes answered questions readily, disclosing that he planned a series of transcontinental flights to test the mask, developed by Dr. Richard Lovelace, Mayo foundation surgeon.

For example the buses that will run on Jackson street will, when city-bound, leave Jackson street at Wood street, run through Wood street to South Grand then north on South Grand to DeSiard street, east on DeSiard to Jackson and will unload and load on the east side of Liggett's drug store. They will then run straight out Jackson street.

The South Grand street buses will run north through south Grand street to DeSiard street, east on DeSiard street to Jackson where they also will unload and load on the east side of Liggett's drug store. They will then run down Jackson to Wood street, through Wood to South Grand street and then straight out South Grand street to their final destination.

New buses that are numbered 101, 102, and 103, will be used on the Jackson-Lee avenue line and 104 and 105 on the South Grand street line.

DUCE AND POPE REACH NEW PACT

Differences Between Fascists And Catholic Church Smoothed Out

ROME, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Through the good offices of a 77-year-old Jesuit priest, Pietro Tacchi Venturi, Premier Benito Mussolini and Pope Pius XI have again smoothed over the differences between the Catholic church and the Fascist party.

A new accord was reached Thursday and announced today by the Fascist party. It called a halt to the renewed controversy between the church and the party over activities of the Catholic Action, a lay society.

Both clerical and lay sides privately expressed hopes that this limited agreement also would have a pacifying effect on another point of difference—the new Fascist race policy.

The agreement was reached by Achille Starace, secretary of the Fascist party, and Marchese Lamberto Vignoli, head of Catholic Action in Italy, following negotiations between Mussolini and the pope in which the venerable Jesuit Venturi, who was go-between in the church-state reconciliation of 1929—assumed his old peacemaker's role.

The accord merely reaffirms the working agreement reached after a similar but more extensive conflict in 1931. This written understanding defined the scope of Catholic Action, which the present pope created and which he has called "the apple of my eye."

Principal points were that no one averse to the Fascist regime could be a Catholic Action leader, that the organization would abstain from all political activity, and that the banner of the association would be the Italian national flag.

The new understanding was designed to halt charges made over the last six months in Fascist publications and denials from the Catholic side that Catholic Action members were not confining themselves strictly to religious matters.

BLACK AND WHITE

Norma Shearer has chosen this street dress in her favorite color combination. Dramatic is the inset sleeve treatment, with throat fastening of carved ivory maple-leaf. Belted at the normal waistline the skirt falls in simple straight lines. The simulated turban is of heavy black ribbed wool and is crownless, held on the head with a band of self-material.

BURGLAR IS KILLED AFTER ALARM WORKS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Three days ago Fred Nolte installed a home-made burglar alarm in his grocery store, wired to ring in the home of one of his clerks next door.

It rang today, and the clerk called police. Six minutes later Detective Arthur Havey shot and killed a man identified as a former convict, who fled as squad cars approached.

PROPOSE JOINT GIFT, ESTATE TAX

Treasury Studies Plan To Prevent Avoidance Of Higher Brackets

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The treasury is studying a proposal to consolidate the federal gift and estate taxes and thus raise a more positive barrier to avoidance of the higher tax brackets.

Under the proposal to combine the gift tax and the two federal estate taxes into a single "transfer tax," all gifts, whether made during the donor's lifetime or passed on as estates, would be taxed the same.

Successive gifts, whether effective before death or afterward, would be lumped together to determine the tax bracket applicable to them, and thus they would come under a higher bracket than if they were taxed separately, part as gifts and part as estates.

The system of taxing a series of gifts the same as a lump gift of the same aggregate amount already is imposed by the gift tax, and the government attempts by litigation to prevent reduction of estates for tax purposes by gifts made "in anticipation of death."

Officials envision elimination of this litigation as one result that might be expected from adoption of a single "transfer tax." Another they are taking into account is the elimination of duplicate forms and procedure.

The proposal is sharing treasury attention with the previously publicized proposals for another revision of the undistributed profits and capital gains taxes, for extension of expiring excise taxes and for reduction of personal income tax exemptions.

However, all of the treasury's tax work for the next congress is still in the study stage, authorities said today. Although Assistant Secretary Roswell Magill discussed progress with the president last week, Magill said no policy decisions would be made until Secretary Henry Morgenthau returned from France and consulted Mr. Roosevelt. Morgenthau is due back Monday.

The chief obstacle to simplification of estate taxes, experts said, was the revamping of the present system of giving credits for inheritance taxes paid the states. Under the 1926 federal estate tax, these credits range from nothing to 80 per cent of the federal tax, but no credit is given on the additional estate tax imposed in 1932. Officials would prefer a flat percentage credit near the average of 15 per cent, but admitted that this would be imposed by states having numerous large estates.

At present, each taxpayer has a lifetime federal exemption of $40,000 on his gifts, and a similar $40,000 exemption on his estate. One of these exemptions probably would be eliminated in the proposed consolidation. The gift tax now has an additional exemption of $5,000 per year per person, which has been reduced to $4,000 beginning next year.

As to the proposal for reducing personal income tax exemptions—from $1,000 to $800 for single persons and from $2,500 to $2,000 for heads of families—Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, recently joined treasury officials in hinting this was one of the revenue sources which might be tapped in an effort to bring the federal budget back into balance. He said congress might be forced to take such a step unless business improved.

The treasury has had eight consecutive deficits and expects to have another amounting to $4,000,000,000 this year. For this reason, officials take it for granted congress will reenact most or all of the present excise taxes on gasoline, automobiles, radios, refrigerators and other items before they expire next June 30.

POLITICS GROWS WARM IN MONROE

to the state treasury and I cannot get in." Congressman Mills was referring to photostatic copies of checks which Long alleged were paid to Mills by two separate state departments and for which the lieutenant-governor said that the congressman could be sent to the penitentiary for "being on more than one payroll."

Denying that he had solicited Earl Long's support in his bid for re-election, Mills declared that Long offered his support but that he told the lieutenant-governor to "go to hell."

"I don't want Earl Long's support," Mills shouted. "He is a liar if he says that I asked him to support me in this race."

Mills charged Earl Long with "stealing" relief money destined for the poor of the state in order to fight his re-election to congress. "I sent money to the state of Louisiana which was added to the state money to be given to more than 55,000 people on relief," Mills said. "These people should have received about $80 each but instead they got three or four dollars apiece because Earl Long stole this money to direct a campaign against me."

Concluding his address, Mills said "there ain't a more conscientious or a harder working congressman in the country than Newt V. Mills. I've done more for Louisiana than all the rest of the representatives and senators put together."

Lieutenant-Governor Long, in company with Will Harvey Todd, candidate for congress from the fifth district; John S. Patton, public service commissioner, and Representative Henry Sevier from Tallulah, continued his "whirlwind tour" of a part of the district.

Mr. Long reiterated his charges that Mr. Mills had served on two state payrolls for which he "could be put in the penitentiary"; that the congressman was a "nut" and that Mr. Mills had exhibited poor sportsmanship in displaying a book showing the dedication of a Standard Oil company tanker and calling attention to Mr. Long's picture in the book, when Mills' picture appeared six times to Long's three.

Mr. Long spoke at Alto, Mangham, Rayville, West Monroe and Simsboro yesterday. A large and enthusiastic crowd greeted him at Rayville and a big crowd which included a number of Mills supporters was present at West Monroe. The Mills supporters at first were inclined to heckle the lieutenant-governor but they later either left or were silenced by Mr. Long's attack on the present congressman.

Mr. Long touched on the recent act of the legislature in purchasing a tract of land for Chalmette park. He said he was opposed to the purchase, that he lobbied against it and that it carried by only one vote. He added that if he had had a vote he would have voted against it.

Both Mr. Patton and Mr. Sevier paid high tribute to Mr. Todd, who again told the voters that he wouldn't make a "lot of wild promises" but would attempt to intelligently represent the people of the fifth district in congress. Mr. Long also praised Mr. Todd but added that if the voters didn't agree with his views, they could vote for "two fine citizens" in the race, D. Y. Smith or Joel Dickinson. He based his talk on the plea that Mills should be defeated in his campaign for re-election.

Two congressional candidates of the fifth district, George Wesley Smith and Congressman Mills, spoke in Railroad park at Ruston Saturday afternoon.

Both of the candidates resorted to criticism for the major premises of their addresses, Mr. Smith taking issue with "the dominance of the executive department over the legislative and judicial branches of the government at Washington" and Mr. Mills directing his most caustic remarks to Lieutenant-Governor Long.

"With the president of the United States attempting to infringe upon the powers of the congress and the supreme court," Mr. Smith declared, "we are on the high-road to a dictatorship."

"I do not believe Mr. Roosevelt will become a dictator, however," Mr. Smith added. "He will not be president two years from now, or six years, or ten. But his successor will take advantage of the situation we are now building and may turn the country into a dictatorship."

Mr. Smith blamed the present "astute congress" for permitting the influence of the executive branch to gain an upperhand and promised that he "will be one man who can not be swayed when I am elected as your congressman."

Mr. Smith criticized the handling of relief funds, stating that "there is too much dipping into the stream of gold flowing from Washington, before the money ever reaches the poor people."

Several minutes after Mr. Smith had talked, Mr. Mills' "hill-billy" band called a crowd together again in the park.

Giving his "forty-second speech of the week," the congressman discussed what he said was his assistance in obtaining federal funds for projects in various towns, including Rayville, Jonesboro, Ruston, Kelly, Winnsboro and Grayson, and referred to his work in behalf of flood protection during the past 18 months. He also mentioned "22 per cent improvement in the efficiency of postal service" in the district during his tenure in congress. Then he launched an attack upon Lieutenant-Governor Long.

"Two years ago, right here," Congressman Mills said, "Earl Long told you to elect me to congress and I would be the best statesman south of the Mason-Dixon line. Today, he tells you I am a plague.

"Do you know what a plague is?" he asked. "A plague is a disease—and it's mighty hard to get rid of.

Mills referred only once to Smith, who had preceded him as a speaker. "George Wesley Smith is a fine lawyer," he said. "If you want to get a negro jury, he can get you one."

GAINS REVEALED IN CARLOADINGS

Increases Also Shown In Production Of Steel, Motors And Electricity

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Increases in carloadings and production of steel, motors and electricity evidenced business improvement this week.

Reports from the nation's industrial capitals showed that progress still was moderate, however; that new commitments and production schedules were being set cautiously.

Blistering heat depressed retail trade in many sections.

The bureau of agricultural economics forecast a "moderate improvement" in consumer buying power and expanding demand for farm products over the next few months.

The week produced further evidence of potential vitality in the automobile industry.

Steel production pushed ahead, but the rate of gain slackened somewhat. The American Iron and Steel institute estimated steel production at 40.6 per cent of capacity. Last week it was 39.4, a month ago 36.4 and a year ago 83.2.

As the week drew to an end, Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general and a member of the government committee investigating monopoly, made important business news.

In a radio address he advocated a large expansion in the staff of the justice department to enforce the anti-trust laws on a scale never before attempted.

"You can't police a country as large as America with a corporal's guard," he said.

The Associated Press index of industrial activity rose to 76.3, a new high for the year. A week ago it was 74.1, a year ago, 103.2.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Representative Jerry O'Connell, Democrat, Montana, told the California Committee for Industrial Organization convention today that he hoped the day would come "when we will expropriate the oil industry in this country also."

He made the statement in a speech after Guillermo Ybarra of the Confederation of Mexican Workers had declared his government's expropriation of foreign oil holdings "expressed a will to liberate the working classes of Mexico."

"Oil and the other natural resources were not placed here for the benefit of the Rockefellers and Morgans," O'Connell said. "Instead they ought to be used for the best good of the common people."

The Montanan referred to the Dies investigating committee, now holding hearings in Washington as the "Dieslies committee."

THREE HELD ON BUNKO CHARGES

Mothers Of Would-Be Child Screen Stars Talk With Police

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Two officers of the National Talent Pictures corporation and the wife of one of them were held on charges of grand theft and bunko today while police questioned mothers of would-be child screen stars brought here as winners of contests in various parts of the country.

Lieutenant Merle B. Swan of the Los Angeles police central bunko squad led 25 officers in a raid on the colonaded studio of the corporation yesterday. After interviewing several of the mothers he said it appeared operations of the concern had extended to every state and into Canada.

He said at least $100,000 in franchises for local dancing schools, costumes and other fees apparently was involved.

Held under $500 bonds each for arraignment August 26 were Ira C. Overdorff, 55, president of the corporation; his wife, Myrtle, 53, and Eddie Rose, 32, vice-president of the concern and publisher of a house organ.

A fourth asserted member of the organization, W. A. Garrabrandt, identified as a salesman, was named in a warrant sworn to by Mrs. Harry L. Gross of Wichita Falls, Tex., representative of a dance studio. She had come here with her 10-year-old daughter, Coleen, winner of a Wichita Falls talent contest.

Mrs. Gross and Mrs. John G. Moore of Salinas, Calif., who brought her two daughters to the talent studio here after they had won a contest at Salinas, told Lieutenant Swan that Overdorff claimed their studios had not paid a $250 fee for their franchises.

Swan said scores of mothers have come here in the last few weeks with child winners of talent contests. They complained they had been charged large sums for costumes and other items which they were told were necessary if the children were to obtain film roles, Swan declared, but the promised roles did not materialize.

Life Of A Garbage Man Grows Hectic In Summer

Lost anything? Call the garbage man. At least, that's the practice that's generally followed, according to Henry Haas, who has been superintendent of the city sanitation department for nine years.

Deep summer may be trying to everyone, but the months of July and August bring a special set of problems into the life of a garbage man. With watermelon rinds plentifully strewn about and nerves on edge from the heat, the summer months constitute a busy season for those who haul away the debris.

First there is the question of lost articles. Anything lost is immediately supposed to have gone into the garbage can. A lady phones excitedly to the sanitation department that she has lost a watch, or a ring, or a hat, and that it just must have been taken away with the garbage. An all day search of dump and incinerator is conducted. Late that evening, when the department phones to report the failure of the search, the lady sweetly relates how she found her ring under the carpet that morning.

Then, too, surprising as it may seem, people frequently put clothing and other articles into the garbage that they do not want hauled away. Woe to the garbage man who, unfamiliar with these plans, transports said articles to the city dump.

Anything missing from the backyard—a rug, an old stove—is apt to call forth a request from the irate owner that the garbage man return it! Protestations of innocence are skeptically received.

"Dog days" are particularly unfortunate for the trash collector. Certain people have dogs whose chief exercise is the chasing of the garbage man, and a thrilling element of chance is provided by the dogs who bite all garbage men they can catch.

Last week 217 truckloads of garbage were hauled by the 26 men who man the nine city garbage trucks. These men also remove dead animals.

What Ho, for the life of a garbage man!

SHRIMP PLANTS MAY STAY CLOSED

Considerable Doubt Expressed Canneries Will Resume Operations Monday

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Reports late today said there was considerable doubt the shrimp canneries would open Monday and pay $8.50 a barrel as demanded by union fishermen.

Two associations of fishermen were contending over the price and attempts of union fishermen to blockade the catches during a price war.

The Gulf Coast Fishermen's and Trappers' association members struck for $8.50 a barrel and the newly-formed East Louisiana Fishermen's and Trappers' association demanded that they be allowed to catch and market at the best prices obtainable.

Sheriff L. A. Meraux of St. Bernard parish, scene of shrimp dumping this week, has invited representatives of both factions and "packers to meet Monday and seek an agreement.

The new shrimping season opened ten days ago.

ARMED POLICE RIDE ON DELIVERY TRUCKS

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Armed police today were assigned to ride delivery trucks of the American Bakeries company here after a midnight labor dispute in which union men were accused by A. S. Johnson, manager of the company, of seeking to halt the deliveries.

Johnson said two score men appeared at the plant and he summoned the police to maintain order. Twenty-five policemen dispersed the pickets and rode the trucks.

Johnson said the trouble grew out of an organization drive among the drivers and wage demands submitted to him by the union which he said were below the wage scale he was paying his men.

TWO BEATEN WHEN SHRIMPERS ATTACK

PASCAGOULA, Miss., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Sheriff J. Guy Krebs said two men were beaten today as nearly 300 union shrimpers attempted to halt operations of a local canning company.

Sheriff Krebs said armed posses road shrimp trucks through the union ranks and a coast guard patrol boat protected luggers from interference while they unloaded at the plant.

He declared the shrimpers, chiefly from Biloxi, were members of the Gulf Coast Fishermen's and Trappers' association, who have demanded that Louisiana and Mississippi canneries pay $8.50 a barrel for shrimp.

Joseph H. Pelham, owner of the plant, said after the union men withdrew that he and their leaders agreed to a 30-day truce, during which efforts at price stabilization will be made. He asserted he could not pay higher prices for shrimp in competition with Louisiana and Alabama canneries.

Sheriff Krebs said Lloyd Spicer, 22, and a young unidentified negro were beaten near the plant after the union men arrived in trucks. Armed citizens rode as guards in trucks delivering shrimp from the plant.

WORMS, WEEVILS ATTACK COTTON

Losses In Some Sections May Reach One-Third To 50 Per Cent

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Swarming over thousands of acres of cotton in the Mississippi delta and adjacent regions, boll weevils and army worms have launched the most devastating attack on cotton in 25 years, agricultural extension agents reported today.

In a survey conducted by the Memphis Commercial Appeal the agents reported the harvest in many mid-south counties probably will be reduced by a third to 50 per cent. They calculated that the infestation has increased the cost of production four cents a pound.

"Top crops are gone in many areas and in some of the hill counties the farmers have raised the white flag because the cost of battle would eliminate any profit from the crop," the paper said.

The brunt of the attack centers in 14 Mississippi cotton producing counties where the crop has been cut sharply, the survey showed. The weevils and worms also have made appearances with varying severity in west Tennessee, northern Alabama, southeastern Missouri and eastern Arkansas.

Dr. Clay Lyle, Mississippi State college entomologist, was quoted as saying reports from field men show general infestation in the delta, where control measures have been ineffective in many cases because of repeated rains.

In an effort to check the plague farmers have resorted to airplane dusting with chemicals.

YOUTHS ON HAND CAR OUT-PUMP OFFICERS

WILMETTE, Ill., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Police yesterday chased six teen-age boys who took a joy-ride on a railroad hand car.

So fast did the youths pump along that Policemen Edward Whiteside and John Henrickson, riding in a squad car, were unable to head them off. The officers radioed ahead to nearby Kenilworth. There, a squad car parked on the track.

The joy-riders brought the car to a halt and fled afoot.

The officers had the task of pumping the car two miles, back to the railroad yard from which it was taken.

Here's the POSITIVE PROOF

Newt V. Mills DID NOT pay in full the NOTE he owed J. N. Warner

I am in possession of the Mills-Warner note and I am willing to show this note to any person who wishes to see it. This note for $110.00 was due November 1st, 1925. On December 20th of that year Mills sent a check (a photostatic copy of which he used in a recent ad) as part payment on the principal. This check was turned down by the Farmerville bank and came back to Mr. Warner for lack of funds. But at Mr. Mills' request this check was again sent to the Farmerville bank and was again turned down for lack of funds. On March 2nd, 1926, the Rapides Bank and Trust Co. of Alexandria charged this check back to Mr. Warner's account and I am now in possession of the debit slip of the bank showing that it was charged back to Mr. Warner.

I am also in possession of the bank's letter signed by the vice-president dated March 2, 1926, to Mr. Warner notifying him that this bad check was charged back to Mr. Warner's account.

I have Mr. Mills' letter of December 20th, 1925, in which he sent this bad check for $105 to Mr. Warner in which he tells Mr. Warner to figure up the balance due and he will pay it. This Mr. Mills has never done. And now he claims that the obligation is paid in full notwithstanding the note for $110. Mr. Mills' check was for $105 which was finally paid about 6 months after the note was due, which left Mr. Mills owing Mr. Warner the interest on $110 for about 6 months and balance of $5 on the principal. In addition to that there is an accumulated interest for a period of 12 years.

In conclusion I want to say that I am in personal possession of the note, the bank's debit slip showing that Mills' check was turned down for lack of funds, also Mr. Mills' letter in which he tells Mr. Warner to figure up the balance due and he will pay it. About 10 days before I charged Mr. Mills in a public address with the failure to pay the balance on this note to his and my 73-year-old friend who had lent him this money to go to school on, one of Mr. Mills' friends went to Mr. Warner and it was presumed that this friend was sent there by Mills for the reason he was in conference with Mills the day prior to his visit to Mr. Warner and offered to and insisted on paying the balance due on this note. Mr. Warner told him that it would be two or three days before he could get up his files and figure up the interest because the transaction was 13 years old.

Now Mr. Mills---You Have Threatened to Sue Me for $40,000 Damage! I Invite Such a Suit and Challenge You to File It!

DON BUDGE WINS CASINO SINGLES, RETIRES TROPHY

Teams With Mako To Capture Doubles From Allison And Van Ryn

By Bill King

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Two members of the United States Davis Cup team, Don Budge and Gene Mako, indicated today they were prepared for any immediate assignment when they dominated final play in the 22nd Newport Casino tennis tournament.

Budge retired the Casino's huge bowl in the morning by defeating a former international teammate and ex-Wimbledon winner, Sydney Wood of New York, 6-3, 6-3, 6-2. Several hours later, he and Mako swept through Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the Austin, Tex., veterans, 7-5, 7-5, 6-2, in the doubles final.

Although both matches were decided in straight sets, they were keen and exciting affairs, the singles windup especially. Budge won that because he was able to keep Wood in back of the baseline during most of the match, thereby preventing that clever tennis stylist from using the best shots in his wide assortment often enough to do him any good.

While Budge kept Wood at long range, permitting hi mto use nothing but drives, he broke through his service six times, despite the fact Sydney generated enough power to blast for nine service aces.

The reason the carrot-topped Californian became the first to take a Casino bowl since big Bill Tilden retired its predecessor in 1929 was that he forced the frustrated Wood to bat 34 shots, mostly forehanders, out of bounds and drive 32 backhanders into the net.

Allison and Van Ryn became finalists when Wood and Joe Hunt of Los Angeles defaulted to them this morning. When their semi-finals match was called because of darkness last night, the canny Texans led 13-15, 6-3, 6-2.

That long established doubles combination, which held two national titles and saw much Davis Cup service, attempted to gang up on Mako but the Los Angeles blond refused to wilt under their heavy fire. Although he handled three shots to every one by Budge, he wound up with only 33 errors while blasting over 16 earned points. Budge's contributions were 18 errors and 13 earned points, Van Ryn's 40 and 21 and Allison's 36 and 18.

ALICE MARBLE WINS ESSEX NET TOURNEY

MANCHESTER, Mass., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Alice Marble, America's top-ranking woman tennis star, today won her third successive singles title of the year and then teamed with Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Cambridge to win the doubles title at the 14th Annual Essex County Women's Invitation tournament.

Both victories came at the expense of hard-hitting Australians. Miss Marble turned back the sensational, 21-year-old Nancye Wynne, 6-1, 6-3, to add the Essex singles crown to her recent victories at Seabright and Rye. The Americans beat Miss Wynne and Dorothy Stevensen in the doubles, 1-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Wynne, a newcomer, had waded through a field of world-famed stars to qualify for the title match, defeating Margot Lumb, of England, Dorothy Bundy and Mrs. Fabyan among others.

The day proved a sorry one for Miss Wynne all around for late in the day she paired with Harold Thompson, Jr., son of the Essex professional, to lose out in the finals of the mixed doubles. They bowed to the strong team of Mrs. Marjorie Morrill Painter, of Dedham, and Dr. G. Colket Caner, of Boston, 6-2, 9-7.

COOPER, SNEAD IN DEADLOCK IN CANADIAN OPEN

American Golfers Will Play Off Tournament Tie Monday

TORONTO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Light Horse Harry Cooper of Chicago spilled a juicy seven all over the 18th hole on his final round of the Canadian Open golf championship at the Mississauga club today and landed in a deadlock after 72 holes with Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Cooper, the defending champion, and Snead finished with scores of 277, six strokes behind Lawson Little's 1936 tournament record and three strokes ahead of little Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y. Runyan, in a three-way tie for the lead at the 54-hole mark, needed a 75 for his final round and had a 280 total.

B. L. Anderson, secretary of the Royal Canadian Golf association, announced Snead and Cooper would play off for the title Monday at 18 holes. The last playoff was in 1931, when Walter Hagen of Detroit defeated Percy Alliss of England by one stroke over 36 holes.

Phil Farley of Montreal won the amateur medal with a score of 295, taking the trophy for the second straight year and the fourth time in his career. Lex Robson, veteran Toronto pro, led the Canadians in the quest of the title that has gone to the United States every year since the great war. He scored 72 and 71 today for a total of 289.

Cooper spoiled one of his greatest tournament performances on the last hole of his last round. A stroke behind Snead and Runyan at the halfway mark yesterday, he overtook them this morning with a brilliant 69 on the third round. Coming up to the final hole, he was three under par and seemed sure to win.

He drove his tee shot out of bounds with a vicious hook that carried over a fence lining the fairway. Playing No. 3, he sliced into a gully, will barely out with his iron and three putted. Then Slammin' Sam got a birdie three on the 15th and came home to tie. It was a close finish, for Snead's second on the 18th was wide of the green, but he chipped to within two feet of the cup.

Ed Oliver, hefty pro from Wilmington, Del., placed fourth with 141-71-71—283. Then came Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., and Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, N. Y., with 285's and the veteran Walter Hagen of Detroit, Tony Manero of Peabody, Mass., and Horton Smith of Chicago with 286 each.

Manero, United States Open champion in 1936, outfired everybody in the field today to get among the leaders. He scored 70 this morning, then uncorked a 66 in the afternoon to equal the course record set yesterday by Cooper.

STELLAR HURLER LOST TO GIANTS IN FLAG BATTLE

Loose Piece Of Bone In Left Elbow Joint Cause Of Lameness

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A bone specialist ordered an operation today for Carl Hubbell, depriving the New York Giants' of their ace hurler in the thick of the fight for the National league pennant.

The specialist, Dr. J. Spencer Speed, said the operation Monday should greatly improve the screw ball pitcher's ailing left arm, but whether the southpaw star will be able to pitch again this season remained in doubt.

There is a chance, the surgeon said, that Hubbell will be able to take the mound again before the flag chase ends, but, as Hubbell expressed it, "the season probably will be about ended."

There is a loose piece of bone in the joint of the left elbow. The specialist will remove it Monday.

Hubbell's arm has been paining him all season, he said, but he didn't decide to quit until the game against Brooklyn Wednesday when he retired in the fifth inning.

The hurler said he hoped the operation would help. He showed little worry.

Lou Chiozza, Giant second baseman, who came home three weeks ago with an injured shoulder, greeted Hubbell when he arrived by plane from New York early today, and spent most of the day with his teammate.

"Every time I pitched a ball that last game I felt a twinge of pain," Hubbell told Chiozza. He said the screwball pitch was "an unnatural delivery," and "throwing it is a strain." He's been using the screwball 16 years.

GERMAN NETMEN ORDERED HOME

Team Badly Defeated By Australians Requested To Return For Rest

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Badly beaten by Australia in the first three matches of the Davis Cup interzone final, Germany's four-man tennis team today was "requested" to cut short its American tour and return home for a "rest."

A cablegram from Captain E. C. Schoeborn, president of the German Tennis federation, reached E. C. Uhl, non-playing captain of the German team, shortly before Henner Henkel and Georg von Metaxa, the German singles players, took the court against Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, respectively, in the final two matches of the playoff.

Both German players were stunned by the news. They had been counting on playing in the United States national doubles championships starting here on Monday, in the national singles at Forest Hills in September, and in other tournaments on the Pacific coast later.

The ailing Henkel took the court and merely went through the motions as he took a 6-1, 6-1, 8-6 blasting from Quist. Metaxa was little better as Bromwich polished him off at 6-3, 6-2, 6-1 to provide the Australians with the clean sweep of the series that their coach, George M. Lott, had predicted. They had clinched the right to meet the United States for the cup by winning the doubles yesterday.

The German squad still hoped the federation would change its mind. Walter L. Pate, officials of the United States Lawn Tennis association, tonight cabled an appeal to the federation to have the team remain, and Captain Uhl said he would wait for a reply before making further plans.

According to Uhl, the cablegram from Schoeborn merely said:

"Team requested to return home in order to be saved from too much tennis."

"We have been campaigning continuously since April," said Uhl, "and have played five Davis Cup matches besides participating at Wimbledon, Hamburg and other tournaments.

"While not detracting in any way from the Australians, who played very well, it was obvious that our men were overtrained and need more time to offset the change to grass courts."

GRID GAME BOOKED

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Ouachita College Teachers of Arkadelphia and the Delta State Teachers of Cleveland, Miss., were booked today for a football game here on September 29. The local board of education voted last night to allow use of Rix field on that date, previously requested by Ouachita officials.

Eddie McLane Makes Plans For Coming Football Season

Louisiana Tech Coach Will Direct Team From Wheel Chair

By Kenneth F. Hewins

RUSTON, La., Aug. 20.—(Special)—Though still confined in bed with injuries received in an automobile accident more than nine months ago, Coach Eddie McLane of Louisiana Tech had football on his mind Saturday. He discussed first plans for a six-day football clinic for high school gridders of this section, to be held at the college from August 25 to 31, and then talked of his possibilities of participation in the management of Tech's athletic affairs. He has it all figured out—just how he expects to carry on, despite the present disability resulting from the wreck near Bunkie last November 13.

"I'm looking for an old two-door automobile," Coach McLane remarked. "We'll take off a door and remove one of the front seats, so they can roll me in the car on a wheel chair. We'll also take the top off the automobile and rig up the thing with a loud speaker, so I can direct plays. That ought to be a fine arrangement. I'll be higher up and can see better than if I were on the ground."

When is he going to do all that? On September 1, the day varsity football practice begins, unless some unforeseen development arises to block his hopes.

Dr. Ragan Green, his attending physician, told this correspondent that "our plans are to have Coach McLane on the field in a wheel chair, September 1."

A new home, to be occupied by the McLane family, is being built across the street from Tech.

"I had to get close to the college," the coach emphasized. "Since our new home will be in the same block as the varsity house (where the football players stay), the boys can come up there in the evenings and we can have skull practice. They could even walk through plays out in the back yard. Why wouldn't that work?"

Then he thought of his duties as athletic director and instructor.

"If I'm not able to get around very well for a while," he stated, "I think I could have my stenographer come to the house and write my letters. As to teaching classes in physical education, the students might come to the house, too, if there are not too many of them," he chuckled.

Seldom a day passes but that several persons visit the coach at his present home here. On Friday, incidentally, a party of Louisiana State university friends, accompanying the tiger mascot, "Mike," over the state, brought the animal in his cage to Coach McLane's bed room window.

The coach's principal handicap continues to be in his legs, which were treated again several weeks ago at a Monroe hospital and placed in casts. Gradually the casts are being removed and the removing probably will be completed this week-end, when more X-ray pictures are to be made, it was said.

In regard to the gridiron clinic to start here next Thursday, Coach McLane said that invitations to participate have been extended to several schools, including Arcadia, Winnfield, Jonesboro, Neville and O. P. H. S. of Monroe, Choudrant, Dubach, Bernice, Farmerville and Ruston. Gridders will be asked to come with uniforms.

Varsity football candidates, who are available for the clinic preceding official grid practice, will demonstrate various phases of the sport, in which the high school boys will participate. Direction of the clinic will be in charge of Mike Wells and Herb Duggine, assistant coaches at Tech. Six members of last year's varsity Bulldog squad, who have finished varsity services, will serve as part-time assistants with the Tech freshmen this year and will probably help conduct the high school clinic, Coach McLane said. The six are Clyde Funderburk, who will aid in training ends; S. X. Lewis, linemen; Guy Carroll, left halfbacks; "Jakie" Hanna, right halfbacks; Herbert Massey, fullbacks, and Don Darling, quarterbacks.

The clinic calendar for the six days includes demonstrations in punting, offensive fundamentals, ball carrying and handling, passing, team defenses, and rules interpretation by officials of this area. The programs are scheduled to start at 7 o'clock each evening.

LABOR DAY GOLF TOURNEY ENTRIES BEING RECEIVED

Jack Tinnin And Gene Vinson Sign Blanks To Take Part In Event

With entries already being received, present indications are that this year's annual Labor Day Golf tournament at Lakeside Country club will be one of the best in the annals of the yearly event, according to Winnie Cole, Lakeside professional.

Entries, he said, had already been received from Jack Tinnin of Little Rock, Ark., winner of the tournament last year, and Gene Vinson of Meridian, Miss., open and amateur champion of Mississippi.

Tinnin arrived in Monroe yesterday for a practice round on the Lakeside course today. He plans to qualify for the tournament, which is scheduled for September 3, 4 and 5, on August 27.

Cole said he was expecting entries within the near future from Henry Castillo, B. C. Neighbors, Paul Leslie, former Western Amateur champion and present champion of Louisiana, and Bobbie Cole, all of Baton Rouge; Edwin McClure, six times Louisiana champion, and Tubby Maihles, both of Shreveport; Stanton Patterson of Natchez, Miss.; Frank Stiddle of Helena, Ark., winner of the Bauhnton Cup tournament; Joe D. Halbach of Tallulah; Ray Bradford and Jerry Hixson, both of Alexandria; Alan Andrews of Bastrop; L. V. Dukes of Jackson, Miss., and others.

Among local golfers who intend to participate in the tournament are Ben Downing, Jr., state high school and city champion, Morton Braswell, runner up to Downing in the city championship tourney, Shep Girault, Cramer Haas, McVey Oliver, H. K. Touchstone, Art Surguine and Wesley Shafto.

Cole estimated that 24 pro-amateur teams would take part in the tournament on the first day of play.

NEVILLE ELEVEN OPENS PRACTICE

Tigers Report For First Football Workout Tomorrow Morning

The Neville High school Tigers will begin training for the 1938 football season tomorrow morning on the Neville practice field, according to an announcement made yesterday by Coach Percy Brown.

Coach Brown said he had no idea how many candidates for the team would report for the initial workouts, but 12 lettermen are back from his 1937 team.

The squad will work out twice each day until school opens on September 12.

Lettermen expected to return are Ed Endom, Ben Downing, Jr., and Leander DeMasterson, tackles; Jack Lanham, Don Stewart, Vaughan Payne and R. C. Rivers, halfbacks; Ray Spicer, fullback; Hurlan Beaumann, Lloyd Scott and Perry Snyder, guards, and Billy Jones, center.

Neville's first game will be a practice tilt at Clarks on September 9 with the Clarks Lumberjacks, Coach Brown said. The Tigers open their season at Baton Rouge on September 15 against Istrouma High school's Indians. Other games on the locals' schedule are Bolton, Greenville, Miss., Lake Charles, Homer, Winnfield, Ruston, Bastrop, Vicksburg, Miss., and Haynesville.

L. S. U.'S BENGAL MASCOT RETURNS TO BATON ROUGE

Trainer Gordon Higginbotham, who took Mike on the trip through the state, estimated 100,000 persons saw the big mascot during the trip.

Mike's purpose in making the trip, his trainer said, was to renew acquaintances with old friends, meet new ones and to invite everyone to visit him at L. S. U.'s seven home games this fall.

VOLS, BROWNIES TO PLAY TODAY AT BROWN PARK

Ruston Nine Two Up On Mill Team In Ouachita Valley Series

The Ruston Volunteers, two games up on the Brown Paper mill Brownies, defending Ouachita Valley league champions, will tackle the Safety Firsts this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at Brown park in the third game of the title series.

Manager Herbert Steed, of the locals, announced last night that Andy Jones, 19-year-old hurler from Birmingham, Ala., would probably start today's game on the mound for Brown. Jones has won seven games in eight starts for the Safety Firsts. Woodrow Duncan is slated to catch for Brown.

"Lefty" Hinton will be the probable choice to pitch for the Vols, according to Manager Roy Fraser. Gooch will catch for Ruston.

The Vols, who reached the title playoff by winning the first half race, won the first game of the series, 7 to 2, and came right back Wednesday to cop the second game, 6 to 3. The first two games were played at Woodland park in Ruston.

The game today will be the first of the series to be played in Brown park. The fourth game of the series will be played at Brown on Wednesday. Should Brown win one of this week's games, a fifth game will be necessary. The fifth game will be played at Ruston next Sunday. Dates for possible sixth and seventh games have not been announced.

SPARTANS NOSE OUT NEW ORLEANS NINE IN LEGION SERIES

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Spartanburg's American Legion junior baseball team defeated New Orleans, 2-1, today and won the southeast sectional championship and the right to participate in the "Little World Series," beginning on the Spartans' lot August 30.

Spartanburg's first run came in the second inning on a triple by O'Shields and Wood's single to right field.

New Orleans tallied in the same inning when, with one down, LaCrouts walked and went to third on Pittman's double. Pourciau then singled LaCrouts home. Pittman was caught at the plate by Hammett's throw from second.

The Spartans won the game in the fifth when Pitcher Cudd hit a long fly to center with the bases loaded. McMillan, Spartanburg catcher, sprained an ankle when he and Cudd collided while chasing a weak fly hit by Guzzardi. Although plainly in pain, McMillan finished the game.

Score by innings:

New Orleans	010 000 000	1	6 2
Spartanburg	010 010 00x	2	7 2

THOUGH OUTHIT, MONROE DEFEATS EL DORADO TEAM

Ten Bases On Balls And Two Costly Errors Help Locals To Triumph

Although outhit, the Monroe White Sox made good use of ten bases on balls and two costly Lion errors to defeat El Dorado, 6 to 2, here last night and even their two-game series. The victory sent the Sox back into a virtual tie with the Lions for third place.

Tex Nugent hurled his fifth straight victory in allowing El Dorado only nine hits and giving only one base on balls. He pitched the full game.

Hearne, starting Lion hurler, gave up three hits and issued five bases on balls in the first two innings and allowed the Sox to score four runs before he was relieved by Earl Harrist. Harrist finished the game, allowing only two hits and giving five more free passes. The Sox were outhit, 9 to 5.

Joiner, Lion third baseman, led the hitting with three singles in four times at bat. No Monroe slugger got more than one hit, but Manager Doug Taitt got a double and a walk, and Beauford Rhea, local outfielder, worked the El Dorado hurlers for four bases on balls. Rhea also distinguished himself by stealing three bases.

A base on balls and two hits gave the White Sox two runs in the first frame. Conway, first up, popped out to first base, but Rhea got a base on balls, stole second and scored on Taitt's double into right field. Hackney followed with a single that scored Taitt.

Then Hearne blew up in the second inning to walk four batters and allow the Sox to score two more runs. With two men out, Nugent got a base on balls and went to second on Johnny Conway's single. Rhea got his second base on balls to fill the sacks, and Murray got a free pass to force in Nugent. Taitt also got a base on balls to force in Conway with the fourth run of the ball game, and Harrist was rushed in to relieve Hearne. Harrist struck out Hackney to retire the side.

In the fourth inning two bases on

SOX TO PINE BLUFF

The Monroe White Sox go to Pine Bluff today for three games with the Judges in their final road trip of the season. They will play two games with the Judges today and one tomorrow, and then will return home to end the season against Clarksdale, Helena and Hot Springs. Two games will be played with each of those clubs, the season ending next Sunday.

Manager Taitt announced last night that "Red" Andrews and Tom Perry probably would be the pitchers against Pine Bluff.

Starting Tuesday, when the Sox return home to open a set with Clarksdale, voting will begin on the most valuable Monroe player. Fink the Tailor will award a complete outfit to the winner. Balloting for the most popular player, who will receive a wrist watch from Peacock's, has been going on for several weeks.

PITTSBURGH EXTENDS LEAD TO 5½ GAMES

PIRATES DEFEAT CHICAGO'S CUBS BY 5 TO 2 SCORE

Bucs Victorious While New York Bows To Philadelphia Phillies

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates extended their National league lead to five and one-half games today by defeating the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2, while the New York Giants were bowing to the Philadelphia Phillies.

Although the Pirates' veteran Red Lucas, their only pitcher who had gone nine innings against the Cubs this year, failed to go the route today, the league leaders drove Dizzy Dean from the mound and capitalized on six Chicago errors to keep intact their record of not losing a game in Chicago this year. The Cub errors accounted for three unearned runs.

It was Dean's first toss since his purchase by the Cubs. Although he had been credited with six victories, it was the sixth time in nine starts he has failed to go nine innings.

The Pirates, led by Gus Suhr and Al Todd, whom Manager Harold Traynor benched earlier in the week, made eight hits off Diz and added three more off his successor, Vance Page. Suhr collected a double and two singles and Todd a triple and two singles.

REDS AND CARDS SPLIT

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds who are scrapping to get into first place and the Cardinals, just scrapping, split an exciting double header today. The Reds won the opener, 4 to 2, and Lon Warneke pitched the Cards to a 5-4 victory in the nightcap for his twelfth win of the year.

The second game was a re-play of a contest May 14th. And by strange coincidence, an argument similar to the one that necessitated the re-play developed over a hit that bounded off the edge of the pavilion roof. In the seventh inning Johnny Mize hit the projection with a line drive and the ball bounded back into the field. He was flagged at second, but Umpire Dolly Stark changed his mind and waved him around, ruling it a home run. A heated argument followed. The officials changed their minds again and ordered Mize back to second.

PHILLIES BEAT GIANTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—For the first time this year, the Phillies won a ball game in the Polo Grounds today, nipping the Giants 8 to 7 in a slugging match to drop the New Yorkers 5 1-2 games behind Pittsburgh in the National league race.

Morrie Arnovich, the Phils' sophomore fly chaser, paced the 16-hit attack with a homer and two singles, driving four runs across.

NEW YORK HOLDS 10 GAME LEAD IN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Iron Hoss Lou Hits Homer With Bases Loaded And Two-Run Double

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Iron Hoss Lou Gehrig, who's on the up from the batting doldrums, hit a homer with the bases loaded and a two-run double today and generally was a large ball of fire as the New York Yankees walloped the Athletics 11 to 3.

The six runs he batted in made it a cinch for Monte Marcellus Pearson to chalk up his eighth win in a row and his 11th of the year.

By the victory, the Yanks maintained their ten-game edge in the American league race.

Gehrig's payoff homer came in the first inning and put the game on ice at once.

RED SOX TRIM NATS

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Boston's Red Sox today trimmed Washington 10 to 7 in a free-hitting game.

The Senators outslugged the Sox, 15 to 12, but the home team profited by the wildness of starter Jimmy DeShong, who passed five and made a wild pitch, and his successor, Ken "Lefty" Chase, who passed four and threw away one pitch. Zeke Bonura led the Senators' attack with two doubles, a single and a home run, his fourteenth of the year.

All the Brownie runs were scored by homers. Don Heffner hit one with Beau Bell on base, and Bell and George McQuinn each connected for the circuit with the sacks empty. McQuinn's hit marked the 30th successive game in which he has hit safely.

Lake Charles and Alexandria, one-two teams in the Evangeline league, kept to the pace Saturday by winning games, respectively, from Lafayette and Abbeville.

The Lake Charles Skippers fought hard to take their close decision over Lafayette, stowing the game away with a one-run rally in the ninth inning. Montalvo held them to seven hits.

The Alexandria Aces smacked out six runs in the second inning in their flattening of Abbeville. The Athletics got only six bingles, but produced four runs from them in the eighth frame. The Aces collected 15 hits.

Opelousas, with only four safeties, managed to score twice in the last inning to defeat New Iberia, 2 to 1. Three Cardinal errors helped the Indians.

The Rayne game at Jeanerette was rained out.

SLAPSIE MAXIE BECOMES ACTOR

Former Ring Clown Has Desire To Show People Fighters Have Sense

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—(AP)—To hear Maximillian Rosenbloom—known in the sports sections for 17 years as Slapsie Maxie—tell it, the 350 sinkers the Warners have decided to give him weekly for acting is secondary.

"I'm gonna prove fighters can do somethin' else besides fight. I'm heart and soul in this here movie business and I've just gotta be successful to prove that fighters have got some brains," Slapsie said.

"Maybe if I had some brains," he added thoughtfully, "I'd have $250,000 now. Maybe . . ."

Slapsie, who used to train by leaving his bedroom window open, very slightly, the night before a fight, thinks he's definitely through with boxing.

"Well"—casually—"I won't fight any more unless I can get a whack at Joe Louis."

Slapsie loves acting. His name has been blazing over a night club here more than a year. He sings comical songs about himself and he has shown an amazing facility in turning good-natured heckling into a laugh for everybody. Director Bill Wellman told Maxie to come out to the studio for a week to do a bit of "Nothing Sacred."

"You don't have to act," Wellman told Slapsie. "I'll cut you out of the picture, so you haven't got anything to worry about."

"So I goes out and clowns through it," Slapsie says. "Bill really wanted me around to talk about fights. I was just myself. No use tryin' to act, I says, if I'm gonna be cut out. So what? So I'm good and Bill, he leaves me in.

"Boy, I says to myself, if I can be that good without tryin', what could I do if I tried?

"I started takin' diction lessons, but I got kidded so much I had to quit," said the former light-heavyweight champion.

He still doesn't deny the oft-told tale that he tossed away the half million the ring paid him. He says he lost $250,000 in bad investments and then decided to "spread the rest of it around."

"But last year I got hep to myself and started saving some dough." (However, the way he was trying to convince himself he ought to buy a $4,000 auto to celebrate his movie contract, caused some conjecture about his statement. Maybe, he said, "next year I will get hep to myself . . .")

Slapsie's only fear is that he may be typed as a gangster, what with his face and his ears showing the wear and tear of much well placed leather.

"I wanta do comedy," avers Slapsie. "I think dat's my forte."

His first role is that part Douglas (Compass) Corrigan would have played if the Warners had been able to sign him. You'll have to see "Women in the Wind" to catch Slapsie slapping a compass around.

AMERICAN LEAGUE LITTLE MEN FEW

Clark Griffith Has Advised Washington Scouts To Look For Big Fellows

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—(AP)—The little man had his busy day in the American league.

Clark Griffith—who as a little man was one of the game's greatest pitchers—has advised his Washington Senator scouts to look ony for the big fellows among the bushers.

Height—at least 5 feet 8 inches.

Weight—over 150 pounds.

Look over the American league rosters and you'll see that the little man has almost disappeared.

The smallest man with the Yankees is Frankie Crosetti, who stands 5 feet, 10 inches, and weighs 165, which isn't small by any standard of measuring men.

Boston's tot is Eric McNair, 5 feet, 8, weight 160, and Eric isn't a regular these days.

Cleveland has two comparatively little fellows—Frank Pytlak, 5 feet, 7, and Roy Weatherly, the same height. Neither plays every day.

Chicago has an exception — Mike Kreevich, who is 5 feet, 8, and one of the club's outstanding players. Yet he weighs 170.

Griffith's Senators are all big rangy fellows except Buddy Myer, who is 5 feet, 10 and weighs 165.

Smallest of the St. Louis Browns, Harlond Clift. He's 5:11, scales 175.

Only with Connie Mack's Athletics is the little fellow holding his own. The tall tactician has among his players:

Wayne Ambler, 5 feet, 9; Edgar Smith, 5:10; Wally Moses, 5:10, Lyn Nelson, 5:10.

Maybe Mr. Mack—the oldest of the managers—still remembers such good little men as Wee Willie Keeler, John McGraw, Johnny Evers and Rabbit Maranville.

LINE WEAKNESS WORRIES OLE MISS FOOTBALL COACH

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Line weakness admittedly is causing some worry to Coach Harry Mehre, as he prepares the Rebels for the forthcoming football season.

The only letterman returning on the line is Winky Autrey, center, but Mehre is hopeful that such sophomores as Red Crowe and Cromer May bus may provide the spark that should take part of the weakness from the Rebels forward wall.

balls and two errors gave the locals their fifth and sixth runs. Conway was given a base on balls and in stealing second base, Pudge Powers, the El Dorado catcher, threw wild to Vavreck, who was covering the bag, and Conway raced on to third. Rhea then got his third base on balls and also stole second. In another attempt to stop a steal, Powers again threw wild to second, the ball rolled out into center field and both Conway and Rhea scored.

El Dorado scored one time in the sixth frame with three hits. Harper singled. Powers hit a high fly to Rhea in center field for the first out, but Vavreck singled, sending Harper to third, and Pfeiffer followed with a single that scored Harper.

The Lions then went hitless and scoreless until the ninth inning, when they managed their final run. Pfeiffer, first up, flied out to Taitt in right field. Dancisak was safe at first on Conway's error at shortstop and advanced to third on Joiner's third hit of the game. Hawley, a pitcher, went in to pinch-hit for Harrist and drove one against the left field fence for a double that scored Dancisak.

The Monroe White Sox resumed their winning ways Saturday in the Cotton States league, defeating El Dorado 6 to 2 after their 15-game victory streak had been stopped Friday night by the Lions. El Dorado outhit Monroe, but the Sox grabbed an early lead and never gave it up.

The win put Monroe virtually in a tie with El Dorado for third place. Only a percentage point separated the two teams.

League leading Greenville whipped second place Helena, 4 to 2, Greenwood beat Clarksdale, 5 to 2, and Pine Bluff drubbed the Hot Springs Bathers, 12 to 4.

The Greenville Buckshots downed Helena's Seaporters although outhit nine to seven. Greenwood hit in bunches to defeat Clarksdale, clinching the contest with three runs in the eighth frame.

The Pine Bluff Judges socked Tolles and Barnett for 21 safeties to trample Hot Springs. Barnett served turns as both pitcher and catcher for the Bathers.

TRAVIS LEADING BATTING PARADE

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Hal Trosky, Joe DiMaggio, Earl Averill, Jimmy Foxx—and now it is Cecil Howell Travis who has taken over undisputed leadership in the 1938 American league race for batting honors.

The fifth in line, Washington's shortstop also was five points ahead of the field with a mark of .350, semi-official averages of Friday disclosed. And if you care for more fives, it was five years ago that Travis made his American league debut—with five hits in that many times at bat.

Travis broke his tie of last week with Boston's Jimmy Foxx by driving out 11 hits in 27 tries for a four-point gain. Foxx' average fell off one point when he connected but eight times in 24 attempts.

He wound up with .345, a single point ahead of two Chicago White Sox clubbers—Hank Steinbacher and Rip Radcliff. A 13 point gain over the week boosted Radcliff from a tie for sixth to his third place deadlock.

Other leaders included: Earl Averill, Cleveland, .341; Hal Trosky, Cleveland, .338; George McQuinn, St. Louis, .333; Buddy Myer, Washington .327; Jeff Heath, Cleveland, .327; Red Rolfe, New York, .325; Mel Almada, St. Louis, .325; Joe Cronin, Boston, .325.

All the departmental leaders held their places with the exception of Joe Cronin, boss of the Boston Red Sox, who saw his hireling, Ben Chapman, jump ahead in doubles with 32. The two had been tied last week.

Detroit's Hank Greenberg exploded three homers in one day to increase his total to 41 and also had scored the most runs, 96.

Foxx was still tops in runs batted in, with 118. Buddy Lewis of Washington had 150 hits, Heath 13 triples and Frank Crosetti of New York the most stolen bases, 18.

Two New York Yankee hurlers, Red Ruffing and Spurgeon Chandler, were tied in percentage points for the pitching lead, Ruffing had won 16 and lost 4; Chandler, 12 and 3. Johnny Allen of Cleveland, who had been setting the pace, slipped to fourth behind Lefty Grove of Boston with a mark of 13 wins and five setbacks.

L. S. U. FOOTBALL TEAM ASSURED OF LINE OF VETERANS

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The return of 15 lettermen including seven starting linemen, assured Louisiana State university a veteran forward wall when the football wars get under way next month.

Eight seniors are included in the returning veterans who are expected to give Coach Bernie Moore a breathing spell, at least for a year.

The lettermen returning include one center, four guards, four ends and six tackles. In the last category a couple of good sophomore prospects are expected to reinforce the six lettermen.

Returning tackles include Eddie Gatto, all-Southeastern last fall, and Ben Friend, who are considered by L. S. U. supporters to compare with any pair of tackles in Dixie.

Line Coach J. B. Whitworth smiled as he contemplated the list of guard candidates. Blythe Clark, Jake Messina, John Hugh Smith and Ed Cunningham are veteran guards who earned their letters during the 1937 season.

The only veteran center returning is Dick Gormley but the Tiger mentors are grooming Gayle Monget, who played a little last year, and Jim McKinney, a promising sophomore.

The flanks seem well protected with Ken Kavanaugh, all-Southeastern last year, Ogden Baur, Jack Gormley and Larry King, returning to take up their chores at those positions.

HEPPENSTALL TOURNEY WON BY BEN DOWNING, JR.

Ben Downing, Jr., state high school and city champion, acquired further golfing honors yesterday, when he defeated Robert Guerriero, 1 up, to win the Heppenstall tournament at Lakeside Country club.

Downing gained the finals by besting Hal Woods, 6 and 5; Guerriero, by overcoming Shep Girault, 3 and 2.

PROFIT TAKING OFFSETS RALLY

Orleans Cotton Market Closes Net Unchanged To Four Points Lower

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Cotton rallied briskly from an early decline today but the higher prices attracted increased profit-taking and the market closed steady net unchanged to four points lower.

Trading for the most part was limited to evening up commitments in advance of the loan announcement which was expected within the next 24 hours.

During the second hour shorts covered and found contracts scarce. As a result the market traded up to levels 8 to 12 points above the previous close on nearby delivery.

The subsequent selling erased the advance and final prices were near the bottom. October closed at 8.38-41, December 8.57-50; January 8.45; March 8.47 bid; May 8.48; and July 8.45 bid.

The turnover yesterday was 14,350 bales and open commitments 380,750 bales, a decrease of 1,450 from the previous day.

Exports today were 2,062 bales.

Cotton futures closed steady net unchanged to one point lower.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Hedging sales were offset effectively in wheat pit trade early today by purchases credited to export interests and mills. This resulted in stationary prices for the time being.

Reports that Germany was in the international wheat and corn markets and an advance of 7-8 to 1 1-8 cents at Liverpool helped buying sentiment here.

Opening 1-8 off to 1-2 up Sept. 64 3-4-65 Dec. 66 5-8-3-4, Chicago wheat then held near the previous close. Corn started 1-8-1-2 higher, Sept. 33 3-8-1-2, Dec. 50 1-4-3-8.

Wheat closed 1-2-7-8 lower compared with yesterday's finish, Sept. 63 7-8-64, Dec. 65 7-8-66, and corn was 1-8-1 cent down, Sept. 52 1-4-3-8, Dec. 49 3-8. Oats were 1-8 off to 1-8 up.

VIGOR LACKING IN STOCK MART

Further Signs Of Rallies Seen, However; Session One Of Slowest In Months

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Further faint rallying signs were present in today's stock market but rising vigor was lacking in most departments.

Motors, steels, rubbers and a few rails responded to quiet bidding with advances of fractions to around a point at the best, but these were down from the top at the close.

It was one of the slowest sessions in more than two months, with the two-hour turnover approximately only 300,000 shares.

Continuance of moderately bright business prospects, brokers said, was the main buoying influence for the list. In some quarters, though, it was felt that an unusually strong recovery in the United States would be necessary to offset conditions abroad and turn the recessionary tide in several foreign countries.

European war tension, still in evidence overseas, as the result of extensive German military maneuvers, seemed to inspire cautionary attitude among speculative contingents.

Part of the day's apathy was attributed to the decision of many commission house customers to get a head start on their holiday. Others were inclined to keep commitments at a minimum over the week-end.

In many cases best quotations for the brief proceedings were established in the first hour. After a dip, there was another upturn near the beginning of the final period. Scantiness of volume on the come-back brought in some profit taking at the last.

Favored the greater part of the time were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Goodyear, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Marshall Field, Macy, Westinghouse, Western Union, American Telephone, Anaconda, American Smelting, Air Reduction, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern and Texas Corp. Bendix edged into new high territory for the year.

Bonds were mixed and commodities without any definite trend.

Originals of Telegrams Above Are Available at this Store for Inspection

The pictures on this page tell a concrete story of the remaking of a great institution. From disaster to new heights the Monroe Furniture Company literally arose overnight. In addition to the pictures, just a few of the hundreds of telegrams received from all over the country are reproduced for they too tell vividly just how this feat of enhanced merchandising, when, seemingly, all efforts must be exerted to opening a new building, was made possible. Sources of supply all over America actually gave us the free run of their facilities. "You can write your own ticket," was the generous, and general, spirit.

The Sundial

Dost thou love life? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.—Benj. Franklin.

By Nell Grigsby

MIDSUMMER ACTIVITIES are beginning to be interrupted by the enthusiastic preparations of members of the younger set who are going away to college this fall.

Reports of boys and girls who are leaving this autumn for school continue to trickle into our office, but the list is still far from complete.

Robertine Rhymes will re-enter Sophie Newcomb in New Orleans after a peaceful summer at her plantation home in Rhymesville, where she has entertained her friends with genuine southern hospitality.

Jean Terzia will also attend Sophie Newcomb and Mary Ann Wilds will be enrolled at Ursuline academy. Betty Keller will enter her senior year at Ursuline.

Nan Buckner, Marjorie Farmer, Virginia Faulk, Virginia Earle Kersh and Betty Reily will trek to the University of Alabama.

Gloria Major, Jean Hale, Martha Jane Hill and Marguerite McHenry will go to Stephens college, Columbia, Mo. Marguerite, by the way, is entertaining Miss Falice Bain of Pine Bluff, Ark., this week-end, who will be her room-mate at Stephens this winter.

Among Monroe students attending L. S. U. will be Virginia Husted, Libby Haynes, Dodie Hart, Eleanor Colbert, Nibby McKenzie, Henry Mayo, George Patterson, Karl Smith, "Brother" Kennedy and Bid Causey.

Miriam Oliver has an interesting hobby, that of collecting dolls. Miss Oliver has an imposing array, including dolls from South America, France, Switzerland, Sweden, Japan and Germany. Her collection comprises senoritas from Venezuela, Swiss maidens from Interlaken, Switzerland, rhumba dancers from Cuba, peasants from Russia, geisha girls from Japan, not to mention dolls from Beauvais, Madeira, and the hill billy dolls. Other dolls in the collection are quaint figures made of rubber nipples and clothes pins and others made of pecans. Unusual are the Indian dolls fashioned of fiber, coming from Brazil.

Miss Oliver's unusual display was on exhibition at the doll show recently sponsored by the Monroe recreation department. Dolls from each playground were exhibited showing Shirley Temple dolls, Dionne quintuplets, and dolls that grandmother played with when she was a little girl.

And speaking of hobbies. One young woman in Monroe has started a collection of alligators!

Mrs. James M. Russell was singularly honored recently by her appointment as the Louisiana editor of "Better Verse," a magazine of current poems published in Oregon. Mrs. Russell, who has written poetry for a number of years, has had several poems accepted by publications this summer, and her appointment is deemed an unusual honor among her associates.

Were you startled last week by the weird jangling of tin cans on DeSiard street that lent such a cowbell atmosphere to our main thoroughfare?

It was only the Delta Beta Sigma pledges doing their bit for the sorority. Dragging a tin can down the avenue, among many other puzzling things, is only one of the mystic rites of their preliminary initiation. It develops character. If you have your doubts about it, try it. It really takes a lot of moral courage to jangle a can down DeSiard street for hours at a time, with the public staring on in blank amazement.

Miss Marian Harris of Baton Rouge arrived in Monroe last week for Mildred Johnson's wedding.

Pre-nuptial festivities for Miss Francis Pettis, whose marriage to Ernest William Fudickar will be an outstanding event of early autumn, will commence next Sunday when Mrs. Paul Fudickar will entertain with a tea at her home on Park avenue, complimentary to the bride-elect.

Several Charming Affairs Given For Miss Sara Florence Coon, Bride-Elect

Mrs. John Elton Coon Also Honored At Tea

Mesdames Coon, Payne, Bennett, Collins, Williamson, Thompson Are Among Hostesses

Miss Sara Florence Coon, a lovely bride-elect of this month, has been entertained during the past week with a series of affairs including teas, coffee hours, luncheons and outings.

Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Henson Coon and Mrs. Ralph Payne were hostesses at a tea between the hours of 4 and 6 at the home of Mrs. Coon on Auburn avenue. The occasion was given in honor of Miss Coon and Mrs. John Elton Coon, a recent bride.

The living room was beautifully decorated with radiance roses, creating an effective background for the colorful frocks worn by the members of the receiving line.

Receiving the guests with Mrs. Coon and Mrs. Payne were Miss Sara Florence Coon, Mrs. John Elton Coon, Mrs. Fred Mitchell, Miss Sara Hair and Mrs. Eunice Williamson of Ruston.

Miss Coon wore a becoming fall model of blue silk net and Mrs. John Coon was attired in a frock of burgundy net trimmed with bands of velvet. Mrs. Payne wore a model fashioned with striking simplicity of black crepe. Mrs. Coon was dressed in a blue lace frock.

The dining table, overlaid with Venetian lace, was centered with gladioli and asters of pastel tints, interwoven with silver wedding bells. The wedding bell motif was also repeated in the mints and other confections. Crystal candelabra holding pink tapers glowed softly at the ends of the table.

Mrs. W. L. Mitchell Miss Hazel Mitchell Miss Barrier Mae Walsworth and Mrs. A. W. Thompson of Shreveport assisted in extending courtesies to the guests who called during the afternoon.

An enjoyable affair of Thursday morning was the coffee hour given by Mrs. F. C. Bennett and Mrs. S. A. Collins in honor of Miss Coon.

Pink radiance roses, used in artistic profusion throughout the living room suite, added an interesting note of color to the occasion.

Guests were greeted by Miss Coon, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. F. A. Coon and Miss Sara Hair.

The guest of honor was lovely in a becoming sport model of green linen.

In the dining room Mrs. T. O. Brown presided at the silver coffee service. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. George Lester, Mrs. D. T. Milam, Miss Anna Lee Russell, Miss Magdalen Amman, Miss Catherine Rivoire and Miss "Chi Chi" Hinkle.

Rev. Wilford Lee, pastor of the Hazel St. Baptist church, Pine Bluff, read the impressive ring ceremony before an altar decorated with smilax, clematis and fern, banked against a tall trellis topped with burning tapers. The trellis was flanked by a tall basket holding the same delicate flowers, and by seven branched candelabra holding tall white candles.

Preceding the ceremony the candles were lighted by the ushers, Mr. A. B. Moore, Jr., of Crossett, Ark., and Mr. W. C. Gibson, Jr., brother of the bride. Business Women Hold Meeting

An unusual program was presented Tuesday evening when members of the Business and Professional Women's club met at the club house on Jackson street.

The presentation of a history of club to the president was an outstanding feature of the evening, and Mrs. C. H. Modes, in introducing Miss Mary Hester, said in part:

"The presentation of the first volume of the history of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's club, which has been compiled with such exquisite care, by our club historian, Miss Mary Hester, should be a notable occasion.

"Charter members and those who became members afterward, will recall the brilliant affairs recorded in our history and the many women who have been members of our club and for various reasons ceased to be members. Some of these have moved away, among them being Myrtle Doughtie, Gladys Curtis, Virginia Morgan, Mae Johnson, Louella Work, Evelyn Barbour and Myrtle Porter.

"Some have lost interest and some, due to economic reasons, have been unable to retain membership.

"Those who have passed beyond that bourn from which no traveler returns were Kate Cole, Mildred Richeson, Mary Allen, Neva Liner, Mary Baily, Gertrude Slay and Sadie Cottingham. We could hardly mention the history of our club without fond memories of those beloved auxiliary members, who too have passed on, Albert Thornton and Arnold Bernstein.

"To those who have 'carried on' this book is lovingly dedicated."

Miss Hester was then introduced, who presented the history to Miss Bernice Wright, the president, who graciously accepted the volume in behalf of the club.

A history lesson under the direction of Mrs. Modes was held, in which the history of the national organization was discussed. It was brought out that prominent members in the national federation were Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Miss Frances Perkins, Miss Lucille Mae Grace and Judge Grace Miles.

Mrs. George Wesley Smith read several original poems and refreshments were served to those present.

Mrs. Newt V. Mills was a guest of the club.

Reading Proves Popular Diversion

During those luxurious hours, sandwiched between vacation trips and other summer outings, our temporary stay-at-homes are reading latest editions of fiction, poetry and philosophy, not to mention biology and religion.

The public library is a busy place this summer and many requests are made for volumes of fiction as well as books of a more serious trend.

Mrs. Fagan Cox finds "Dark River" by Nordhoff and Hall, the most fascinating book she has read this summer, running only second to the Life of Jack London in a current magazine.

Mrs. Carl McHenry is enjoying "Importance of Living" by Lin Yutang. While it is decidedly heavy reading, Mrs. McHenry finds it intensely absorbing, when read in a leisurely fashion, during short intervals.

Mrs. McHenry also finds "Yearling" by Rawlings, of decided interest.

Mrs. Blanche Oliver decrees that Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" is tops with her. "It's a horrible but interesting exposition" says Mrs. Oliver.

Mrs. J. B. Thornhill has enjoyed "Modern Instance" by Margaret Barnes this summer. "Modern Instance" is a sequel to "Years of Grace," another best seller.

"Return to Religion" by Henry C. Link is named by Mrs. Harry Newhall as the outstanding volume of her summer reading, and Mrs. E. G. Calvert's interest has been claimed by "Man the Unknown" written by Dr. Alexis Carol.

"Man the Unknown," said Mrs. Calvert "is a book of revelations, telling us how little we really know about our bodies."

The most popular books of fiction at the Monroe public library this summer, include "Citadel" by Cronin, "Yearling" by Rawlings, "Handsome Road" by Gwen Bristow, "The Nutmeg Tree" by Sharpe and Belbenoit's thrilling story of Devil's island, "Dry Guillotine."

Most popular non fiction books at the library are "Men and Music" by Deems, "Fashion and Spinach" by Hawes, "Gardening in the Lower South" by Hume.

Numerous requests are received for Ogden Nash's "I'm a Stranger Here Myself," a collection of poems that is being widely read.

"My Days" is the title Eleanor Roosevelt has given her personal journal of the last three years, which will be published some time during August.

For it Mrs. Roosevelt has selected the significant passages from her own day-to-day record, as it has appeared in the World-Telegram. Mrs. Malvina Thompson Scheider, Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, in her introduction to the volume, tells of the difficulties of writing a daily journal. "There have been only a few occasions," writes Mrs. Scheider, "when we found it rather difficult to get it done and those have been days when the conditions under which we worked were not exactly ideal. Mrs. Roosevelt dictates directly to me as I type it. There have been days when my typewriter was perched on a rock; sometimes on my lap in a fast moving automobile. We have used the bed in a hotel room when no table was available; on a destroyer lurching from side to side and on trains with the typewriter sliding under my eyes when keeping my eyes on its movements was a bit disconcerting."

W. of Alexandria to be their guests at the charter banquet to be held Saturday evening, August 27, at Hotel Bentley. The guests have also been invited to be the guests of Mrs. E. A. Porter over the week-end at her lodge in Fishville, after the banquet.

This Man, Joe Murray

BY WILLIAM CORCORAN Copyright, 1938, by William Corcoran; NEA Service, Inc.

CHAPTER XX

Companionship . . . comradeship!

A stark thought came to Joe Murray. It came inevitably. It came often, clearer and clearer. It came and abided with him, unbidden. It had been with him a long time, he suddenly saw, unrecognized.

These stings, these rankling stabs . . . they were alive! They were not, they never could be, happiness and peace—because they were alive! The other, the happiness and peace, the visions: they were passionless and dead and unattainable. They were a drug and a delusion for a starving man, who was sick for the days of his strength and his plenty.

It was not Helen he yearned for any more. It was the past. Helen was dead, gone into limitless time; his love for her had not died, but was part of him; he would always love her and remember her in beauty, through all the years. Helen was not of the earth, she was beyond all passion; she was not real, she was a vision.

It was a vision he dreamed with . . . but it was Terry he lived with daily!

Realization rushed upon him, cataclysmic. It was Terry he wanted and hungered for. Terry—pestering, worrying, begging and beguiling. Terry, with her dainty fine web spinning always about him. Terry, who would conceivably ride in a box car with him blandly and gally, and walk on the highways and sleep in the fields of a nation, did he ask her. So long as they traveled together.

It was the starker a thought for the clarity of its conclusion, which went back to the very beginning. It was Terry he wanted, yes, but it was Terry he had lost. It was Terry he had failed, and Terry who had been torn from his hands. He had not failed himself; he had not been able to keep her, losing her to forces far beyond his humble command. But to realize that he had possessed this and lost it . . . and that it was this and nothing else in the world that he wanted . . . it was stark, stark—and a man must face it forever!

He went a little berserk. He had a remnant of money, a few meager dollars from the tiny fund sent him by the Murrays. He put the money in an envelope and mailed it back to them, saying he was gone again, not to worry, he'd keep going and come out right side up—he had to keep going, and he could not come home.

He felt this interval of lingering dependence to be a shame on him, a recollection that must be wiped out. He had his manhood. He knew the ways of the road. He could make his way, wanting nothing from any man. He'd come right side up. There would be work. There would be need of more automobile bodies sometime, somewhere; there would be work and forgetfulness. Work and forgetfulness.

Not peace! He rebelled at peace, shattering the seductive visions. There was no peace—not in life. Life goes on, a fight and a struggle always, and the greatest torment, the greatest loss, is to be out of the struggle, out of the stream of it.

Neither life nor love have peace in them, though they both have surpassing beauty; the beauty of change, the beauty of growth, the beauty of a continuity, inscrutable and unending.

And this was Joe's groping avowal. He who had been out of the stream of it, out of the running . . . he was plunging back. This man, Joe Murray.

Joe Murray went foraging. When he found what he wanted, he brought it home to the hotel with him: a piece of cast-off leather, light and fairly pliable. It was treasure trove. He borrowed a pocket knife from the hotelman at the desk and went to work in his room.

He took off his shoes; they were in no state for the road, with holes large as quarters in the soles. He cut a piece of paper to a pattern and trimmed it till it slid inside one of the shoes easily and neatly. Then he laid the pattern on the strip of leather and hacked out a most practical inner sole.

He was at work on the other shoe when there came a knock on the door. He had occasional visits from room neighbors; he called an invitation to come right in. The door opened, and he glanced up.

Slowly, numbly, he dropped the shoe, the leather, the knife.

"Terry!"

She came into the room, closing the door behind her. She was looking at him with the big brown eyes . . . looking at him. She was thin; there were big circles under the eyes; her shoulders drooped beneath a cheap red coat.

"Joe," she said, and stopped.

He looked scared, looked like a man who does not know what to do. She did it for him. She walked to him and sat down on his lap, sliding her arms around his neck and laying her head on his shoulder.

"Terry," he said. "God . . . Terry!" His voice would not function. He did not know what was happening to him, what was racking him.

She knew. She said, "Joe—" once, and suddenly began to cry, weakly, surrending wholly. And he cried with her, because he couldn't help it. He was weak. He was unmanned.

It was some time before they were calm, with a kind of exhaustion. Slowly they got around to looking at each other, to letting go each of the other even to that extent. In the eyes of each of them there was a pain and a pity at what they saw. They were so thin, both of them, so older, so different from other days.

"Terry," said Joe huskily, "you floored me that time. You clipped me one. Right on the button."

"I'm glad," she told him. "I'm glad to know that I could."

"How did you get here?"

"I came in an airplane."

"Airplane?" bewildered.

"I flew all the way. I haven't slept in almost two whole days. We flew all last night. I couldn't sleep anyway, coming to you."

"That costs money, Terry!"

"I know it. So I got it."

"How did you get it?"

"Stole it."

He was utterly silenced by that. She looked weary and said, "Oh, what does it matter, darling? I got here. I was afraid you'd be gone. Your mother told me. My father had a lot of money he won betting the races and I stole it. My own mother gave him more long ago that I'll ever see. I've waited months. If I knew where you were I'd have crawled there. If anybody could have told me, I'd have paid them a million dollars."

"Terry . . . but why? I'm broke, I'm in trouble, I haven't earned a dollar in too long to remember."

"What does all that matter?" she cried fiercely, exultantly. "You're alive, I'm alive. We can be alive together. I only want to be dead if I'm away from you. I don't care if we starve—we can starve together. I don't care what happens if it happens to us together."

He bowed his head. He was blinded by a light; he was full of an awareness. He buried his face on her soft shoulder, out of sight. He was remembering . . . her small and intense persistence, her holding on like grim death with her small insinuating hands when she wanted something badly, very badly.

"Why, Terry?" he insisted.

"Because I love you, darling."

He was silent, holding her.

She added, "And because you love me."

There it was. It was so!

And Joe said, "What are we going to do, baby?"

And Terry told him, "Anything you say! We can do anything. Anything . . ."

And they sat there, together. And nothing mattered. Nothing. What could matter now? They could do anything. They could go home. They could go anywhere over a nation. They could find shelter in a field, love in the stars, strength in the wind. They could find work. They could live. They could do anything. Life was going on.

They were together. They were in love.

That is what this story is about. It is about love.

And that is where I come to an end. But the story does not. The story goes on, with a Terry and a Joe, and then another Joe, and beyond and beyond, another . . . forever.

'The Texans' Closes Engagement At Paramount Today

Texas Story Makes Vivid Screen Saga

Joan Bennett And Randolph Scott Head Cast Of Spectacular Film

ONE of the most stirring and turbulent epochs in American history, the period of the Reconstruction, lives again in a magnificent screen romance in "The Texans," which Paramount brought to the screen of the Paramount theater. It is a "big" motion picture in every respect—big in its sweeping frontier theme, big in its lavish production and big in its all-star cast.

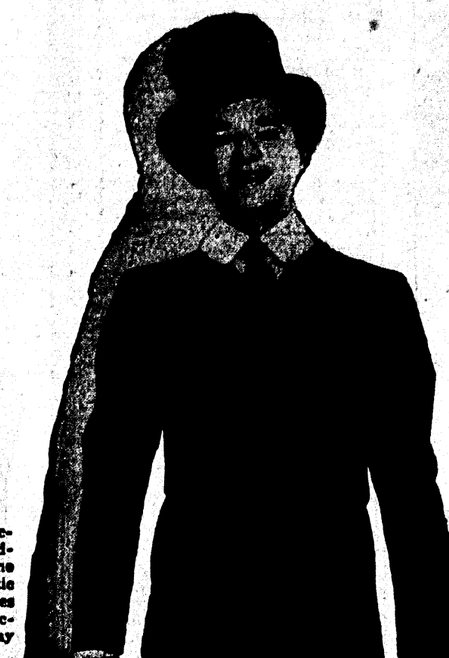
Against the thrilling background of the mad days when a victorious north tried to rule a conquered south after the War Between the States was over, "The Texans" tells the story of a proud frontier people who refused to be beaten down and battled furiously for their rights as Americans until their conquerors recognized them as equals and allowed them to live their own lives. Playing the chief roles in a tale which combines romance with history are Randolph Scott, Joan Bennett, May Robson, Walter Brennan, Robert Barrat, Robert Cummings and Harvey Stephens.

The story opens with the heartbreaking return to their native Texas of members of the disbanded Confederate armies. Brave soldiers and proud gentlemen, they are browbeaten and insulted by the rulers of the state, scalawags and carpetbaggers, who have taken advantage of the south's defeat to line their own pockets. In spite of the provocations, the handsome young soldier at the head of the group, played by Scott, counsels caution, and refuses to join in with his friends' plans to intrigue with the emperor of Mexico and detach Texas from the Union.

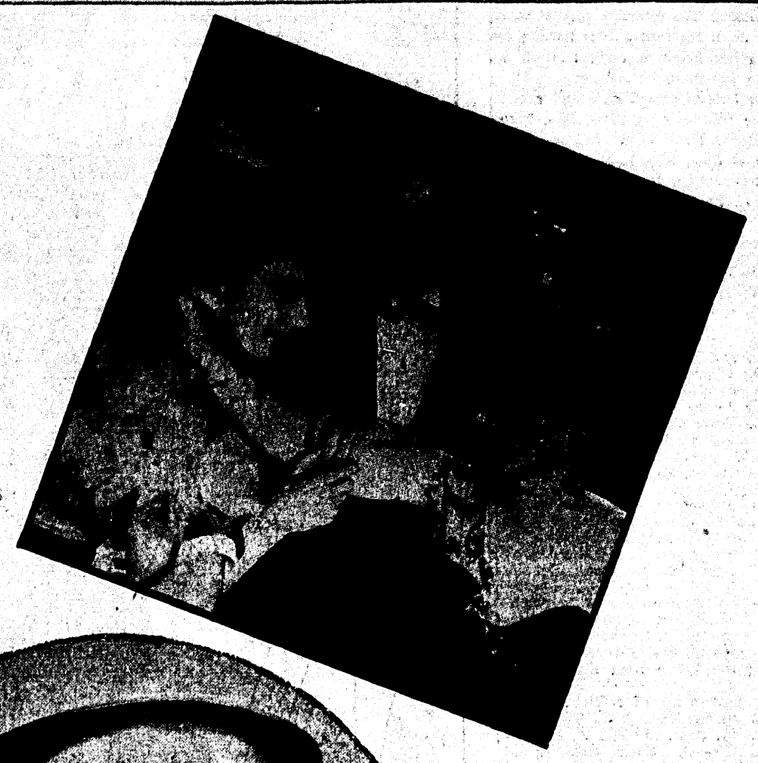
Scott's loyalty to the Union brings him into conflict with the owner of one of the largest ranches in the state, a beautiful spitfire of a southern belle, Miss Bennett, who refuses to admit that "the great cause" is lost. When the leader of the carpet-bag government, Barrat, sweeps down on her and tries to confiscate her cattle, she takes Scott's advice and allows her herds to be driven to distant Abilene, Kan., where a northern market awaits them.

The trek of the fighting southerners across Texas and Oklahoma into Kansas stands out as an unforgettable screen achievement. Pursued by relentless bands of northern cavalry, attacked by some of the most vicious Indians ever to roam the southwest and plagued by desert storms and prairie fires, Scott and Miss Bennett drive their caravan on towards their goal without flinching and find romance amid the turbulence of their journey. It is in these scenes that May Robson, the "grand old lady of the screen," is at her grandest, as the dauntless old Texan whose fighting pioneer spirit never weakens.

The whole sweeping theme of "The Texans" is symbolized in the climax, when the carvan reaches Abilene and the covered wagon meets the iron horse. Here is the final triumph of the southern spirit, a spirit which in a few years turned away her conquerors and opened up the great southwest to American expansion. This picture of America's emergence as a nation must be seen!



Allan Lane scrapes an acquaintance with Joan Woodbury in "Night Spot," in which the two are co-featured in the romantic roles. Parkyakarkus and Gordon Jones have the other featured roles in this picture playing at the Capitol theater Tuesday



Ann Dvorak, Charles Bickford, Wynne Gibson in the feature attraction, "Gangs of New York," play at the Capitol theater today and Monday.

Left: Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney made the hit of their lives with the hundred youngsters who accompanied them on location for "Lord Jeff," their new picture which opens Monday at the Paramount theater. While they were working on the grounds of an old school a local theater manager approached them. Would Mickey and Freddie come to his theater and take a bow? The youngsters conferred. "We'll do it," they agreed, "if you let all the kids in the company into the show free." The theater manager agreed. So the entire delegation held a theater party, all admissions paid by the two "personal appearances."

Coming to the Capitol theater Wednesday the human, down-to-earth family, titled "Judge Hardy's Children's," starring Mickey Rooney, Lewis Stone, and Cecilia Parker.

MOREHOUSE WILL HOLD TAX VOTE

BASTROP, La., Aug. 20.—(Special)—A mass meeting was held in the Morehouse parish courthouse Friday afternoon to determine the sentiments of the people of the parish regarding the proposed agricultural building and new parish jail. The meeting was called by the police jury. The president, C. N. Story, introduced District Attorney Frank W. Hawthorne, who outlined the plan, stating that the approximate cost of the buildings would be possibly $125,000, of which the government would bear 45 per cent. The balance would be borne by the parish. This would necessitate an additional tax of approximately three quarters of a mill. After a general discussion it was decided that the people of Morehouse parish vote on the proposed projects.

The value of a working elephant has dropped from $7,000 to around $150.

You're headin' for the laugh round-up when you see (left to right) Johnnie Davis, Dick Powell, Priscilla Lane, Pat O'Brien and Dick Foran doing their stuff as wild and wooly westerners in "Cowboy From Brooklyn," the rodeo of rhythm and romance which is scheduled to open at the Paramount theater Wednesday.

Fay Bainter who plays the part of Hannah brings happiness and success to everyone in the picture opening next Friday at the Paramount theater, "White Banners," by Lloyd C. Douglas. Jackie Cooper, Claude Rains and Bonita Granville take the leading roles. The author of "White Banners" also wrote "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light," the screen's smash hits of 1936 and 1937

'Gangs Of New York' At Capitol

"GANGS OF NEW YORK," new Republic picture which is opening today at the Capitol theater, brings with it one of the finest dramatic casts that has graced a local screen in many a moon.

In the starring role is Charles Bickford who enacts a dual role—that of a policeman and also that of a murderous mob leader. Bickford is backed by 10 years of work on the dramatic stage and by his work in such pictures as "Dynamite," "This Day and Age," "Under Pressure," "The Farmer Takes a Wife," "Rose of the Rancho," "Little Miss Marker" and "The Plainsman."

Playing opposite Bickford, in one of the two feminine leads, is vivacious Ann Dvorak, who first leaped to screen fame along with another screen great, Paul Muni, in "Scarface." Since that day she has appeared in such outstanding hits as "Dr. Socrates," "Thanks a Million," "We Who Are About to Die," "Three on a Match," "G-Men," "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round," and "Merrily We Live."

Prominently cast in the second feminine lead is Wynne Gibson, whose dramatic portrayals in scores of pictures has won the plaudits of critics the country over. Wynne is a graduate of the legitimate stage. Her picture triumphs include "The Strange Case of Clara Deane," "Ladies of the Big House," "Lady and Gent," "I Give My Love," "The World and the Flesh," "If I Had a Million," "The Crime of the Century," "Michael O'Halloran," and scores of others.

Alan Baxter, one of the screen's most promising young dramatic stars, enacts an important featured role. Baxter has scored with smashing performances in "Mary Burns, Fugitive," "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine," "Thirteen Hours By Air," "Big Brown Eyes," "The Case Against Mrs. Ames," "Parole," "It Could Happen to You," and the more recent "I Met My Love Again."

Others of the sterling cast who will be remembered for their excellent work in many previous "hit" pictures include Willard Robertson, Charles Trowbridge, Harold Huber, John Wray, Fred Kohler, Sr., Jonathan Hale, Maxie Rosenbloom and Maurice Cass.

"Gangs of New York" is an exciting story of the adventures of a detective who closely resembles an infamous gang leader and poses as the gangster, while that individual is in prison, in order to round up the entire gang. The thrilling and hair-raising adventures that occur before the picture is brought to a swift and dynamic climax makes for action-entertainment fare of the first order.

James Cruze directed the film under the supervision of Associate Producer Armand Schaefer.

A HIGH HONOR

THE BEST MILK

IN THE STATE OF LOUISIANA IS SERVED TO YOU BY THE DAIRIES OF MONROE & WEST MONROE---According to Reports of Dr. O'Hara---President Louisiana State Board of Health.

MONROE MILK RATING HIGH
Twin Cities First-In State To Be Placed On Accredited List
Dr. G. Douglas Williams, director of the Ouachita parish health unit, was notified Tuesday by Dr. J. A. O'Hara, president of the Louisiana state board of health, that the Twin Cities are the first in the state to be given an accredited milk rating of 90 per cent or over for retail raw milk and a rating of 83 per cent for pasteurization plant rating.
Photostatic copies of the results of the rating of dairies in Ouachita and surrounding parishes which supply milk to the Twin Cities which were received here from Dr. O'Hara. The ratings were made last June by Dr. F. A. Clark of the milk rating bureau of the United States public health service, and by H. W. Conner of the local health unit. Included in the photostatic copies was a report on the enforcement rating which was placed at 94.3 per cent.
In his letter congratulating the local health unit on the excellent milk sanitation status of the Twin Cities, Dr. O'Hara said:
"I wish to congratulate you upon the fine showing that the Twin Cities made in this report, receiving a retail raw milk rating of 90 per cent and a pasteurization plant rating of 83 per cent. This now places the Twin Cities on the published list of communities having a standard ordinance and making the Twin Cities the first to receive such a rating. Your enforcement rating is excellent, being 94.3 per cent.
"I feel sure that you will make every effort to maintain this record as well as to receive as good or better rating upon the next visit of Dr. Clark."
Dr. Williams, director of the local health unit Tuesday expressed his gratification with the results of the milk ratings which place the Twin Cities at the head of the list of accredited towns prepared by the United States public health service.
"I wish to congratulate the dairymen of this area," Dr. Williams said, "who have cooperated with Mr. Conner in his untiring efforts to improve the milk supply of the people of the Twin Cities and I wish to assure the public that the health department will continue to supervise the production and processing of the milk which is sold in the Twin Cities and am confident that we will be able to maintain or even better our present rating."

Read the article stating these facts incorporated in this advertisement which is self-explanatory and proves our assertions.

We have the BEST Milk, the BEST service and our dairies are equipped in such a manner to guarantee the BEST and PUREST of milk at ALL times.

Dairymen Are Proud of This Excellent Rating and Pledge Their Continued Efforts to Keep and Maintain Their Place as 1st and Strive for a Even Higher Rating.

The Dairies Listed Here Are a Part of the Industry in and Around the Twin Cities Who Have Contributed Greatly in Bringing About Such an Excellent High Rating.

GEORGE D. HOLLAND BACK FROM 2-WEEK VACATION

George D. Holland, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mrs. Holland and children returned Saturday from Lake Taneycomo, in southern Missouri where they have been spending the past two weeks.

He said that they occupied a cottage on the "Shepherd of the Hills" estate, which was well equipped for an outing with all modern facilities provided.

Some days were spent at Hollister, Mo., and at Eureka Springs, Ark.

Mr. Holland stated that during the coming week complete organization, of the community chest will be effected and constitution and by-laws adopted. These are being prepared by Attorney H. Flood Madison, Jr., for submission to the board of directors of the chest at their meeting this week.

MIX-UP AT TECH OVER LAND COST

RUSTON La., Aug. 20.—(Special)—To carry out their part of the "legal tender" of an offer for property on which to erect a high school and domestic science building here, members of the Lincoln parish school board will provide $25,000 in currency to present to the property owners, M. E. and C. A. Terrill, it has been announced.

An abstract of the Terrill acreage, in the eastern part of the city, is being prepared through authorization of the school board. With that detail completed, the "cash money" will be offered to the Terrill brothers.

The property owners, however, have declared that they will not accept the $25,000. They are requesting $35,000, as stipulated in a second option. The fact that two options were submitted by the Terrills has created a dilemma yet to be solved.

The Terrill property was favored as the site for the school buildings by a majority of nine votes in an election held on August 12.

RAPID WORK ON TECH BUILDINGS

Improved Dormitories Will Be Ready For The Fall Semester

RUSTON, La., Aug. 20—(Special)—They're figuring flooring in terms of acres at Louisiana Tech, where a $17,570 improvement program is under way in the women's dormitories.

More than an acre and a half of hardwood and sub-flooring will be laid in the building, according to J. B. Heard, WPA construction superintendent, in charge of the project. The order calls for 60,621 board feet of oak and 10,964 board feet of sub-flooring. Footage by the acre equals 43,560, it was pointed out, and the correspondent was invited to figure it out for himself.

The flooring, however, is only the "ground work" of the remodeling. The project includes construction of new clothes cabinets in the individual rooms, the painting of all walls and ceilings, erecting of new rooms on the third floor, varnishing doors and the baseboard, removing and replacing of plumbing fixtures, providing for additional toilet facilities and the installing of 35 showers, besides sanding and waxing all the floors.

The WPA is employing about 70 men, including 52 skilled laborers, and with several men being furnished by the college, the total list of workmen includes about 100 persons.

The project is being pushed as rapidly as possible in an effort to have the dormitories in tip-top shape for the opening of the fall semester on September 12.

3,776 REGISTERED

OAK GROVE, La., Aug. 20.—(Special)—A total of 3,776 West Carroll citizens were registered when the books were closed for the period prior to the Democratic primary election to be held September 13, according to Mrs. Pauline Mattis, parish registrar of voters.

HE WAS MADE RIDICULOUS — WAS THE LAUGHING STOCK OF THE TOWN—BUT HE SAVED $9.65 ON $95 WORTH OF PRINTING

—and he may still figure that he is ahead on the deal. Penny pinchers are hard to convince sometimes.

It was like this: He spent several days "shopping around" to get the lowest price on a lot of advertising folders. He finally gave the order, as he had intended, to the lowest bidder, a printer noted for cheap prices and cheap work. He used the folder of a St. Louis firm in the same line, and having a similar name, as part of his own copy. That saved hiring a competent advertising man to do the work. But he overlooked changing the address, and, of course, his underpaid printer never discovered the mistake. He did his mailing, and then waited for results—but waited in vain. Then, somehow, the news got around that the replies he had been looking for had been going to the firm in St. Louis. As they carried no money, there was nothing that could be done about it. The printer had followed his copy and he had O. K.'d the proofs, and he finally had to pay the printer's bill.

A thing like this couldn't have happened if the order had been placed with us, because we know our business.

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

AS ONE OF THE LIONS CHARGED, TARZAN DODGED, WHEELED AND LEAPED ASTRIDE THE RAGING CARNIVORE.

THOUGH THE BEAST REARED TO SHAKE HIM OFF, TARZAN CLUNG TIGHTLY, DRIVING HIS KNIFE INTO THE TAWNY HIDE.

THE CREATURE FELL DEAD: BUT NOW THE TWO REMAINING LIONS CHARGED AT ONCE.

IN THE TREES ABOVE, LULING SCREAMED, BELIEVING HER HERO WAS SURELY DOOMED.

NOW TARZAN LIFTED THE CARCASS OF THE FALLEN BEAST AND HURLED IT INTO THE FACE OF THE LEADING ASSAILANT.

THE OTHER RACED ON, BUT TARZAN MET HIM AND SLEW HIM AS HE HAD THE FIRST.

THEN THE THIRD, BRIEFLY HALTED, RESUMED HIS CHARGE. TARZAN STOOD STAUNCH, VOICING FEROCIOUS GROWLS. THE LION STOPPED, THEN TURNED AND TROTTED AWAY. THE MIGHTY APE-MAN HAD BLUFFED THE KING OF BEASTS.

ABOVE, SUN TAI, THE SCHOLAR MUSED: "AS A WEAPON AGAINST EVIL, THERE IS VIRTUE IN SUCH PHYSICAL PROWESS."

SO RETURNING TO THE IMPERIAL CITY, SUN TAI DECREED FOR TARZAN THE HOMAGE RESERVED FOR POETS AND SAGES. AND THE PEOPLE, WHO HAD ALWAYS STRESSED THE ARTS OF THE MIND UNITED TO HONOR NATURE'S BROTHER."

BUT FANG CHU-FANG, TARZAN'S FOE, VOWED THAT HIS HONORS--AND HIS LIFE--WOULD SOON BE CUT SHORT!

NEXT WEEK----A BID TO DISASTER!

SCENE: LAYTON VALLEY JUNCTION FREIGHT YARDS.

WELL, BRIGHTON, WE'VE BEEN HERE TWO DAYS AND HAVEN'T SEEN JOJO NIDLE— NOR EVEN ANY OF HIS GANG.

YOU MUST REMEMBER— HAVE PATIENCE! LIVING UNDER THIS PLATFORM ISN'T SO BAD. WE STILL HAVE FOOD AND WATER— AND IT'S DRY HERE.

BUT WHAT WILL YOUR MOTHER THINK WHEN SHE REALIZES IT'S US WHO HAVE BEEN TAKING FOOD OUT OF HER PANTRY?

AND YOUR FATHER! BOY! HE'LL TAN YOUR HIDE WHEN HE FINDS OUT YOU TOOK HIS .22 RIFLE.

BUT WE'VE GOT TO HAVE A WEAPON, HAVEN'T WE? IF WE EXPECT TO CAPTURE JOJO.

NOW LET'S JUST CONCENTRATE OUR GAZE ON THAT FRESHLY LOADED CAR OF TIRES STANDING IN FRONT OF THE TIRE FACTORY.

GEE, IT'S SO DARK I CAN HARDLY SEE.

MEANWHILE, UP THE TRACK A SHORT WAY, A CATTLE TRAIN DRAWS NEAR THE TOWN OF LAYTON VALLEY JUNCTION.

WE'VE GOT TO STOP AT THE JUNCTION FOR ORDERS. — MAY HAVE TO SIDETRACK FOR THE FLYER.

OKAY.

HEY, BRIGHTON, HERE COMES A FREIGHT TRAIN!

YEAH— AND IT'S GOING TO CUT OFF OUR VIEW OF THE TIRE FACTORY.

HEY, DUCK BACK IN THE SHADOW, QUICK!

WH— WHAT DID YOU SEE?

LOOK— STICKING OUT OF THE DOOR OF THAT CATTLE CAR!

TWO FIGURES EMERGE. THE CAR DOOR IS CLOSED AND ANOTHER SEAL PUT IN PLACE.

HOLY NED! WHO CAN THEY BE AND— WHAT WERE THEY DOING THERE?
